Central Catholic High School

Reading, Pennsylvania

Dedication

As pastor of St. Paul parish and founder of Central Catholic High School, Father Hammeke has won the esteem of the student body and the admiration of the entire city of Reading. Oblivious of personal sacrifice, his courage and foresight have enabled him to undertake and complete the great venture of founding a school open to all the Catholic youth of this community. Though removed from the scene of action, his interest is felt and realized by every Centralite.

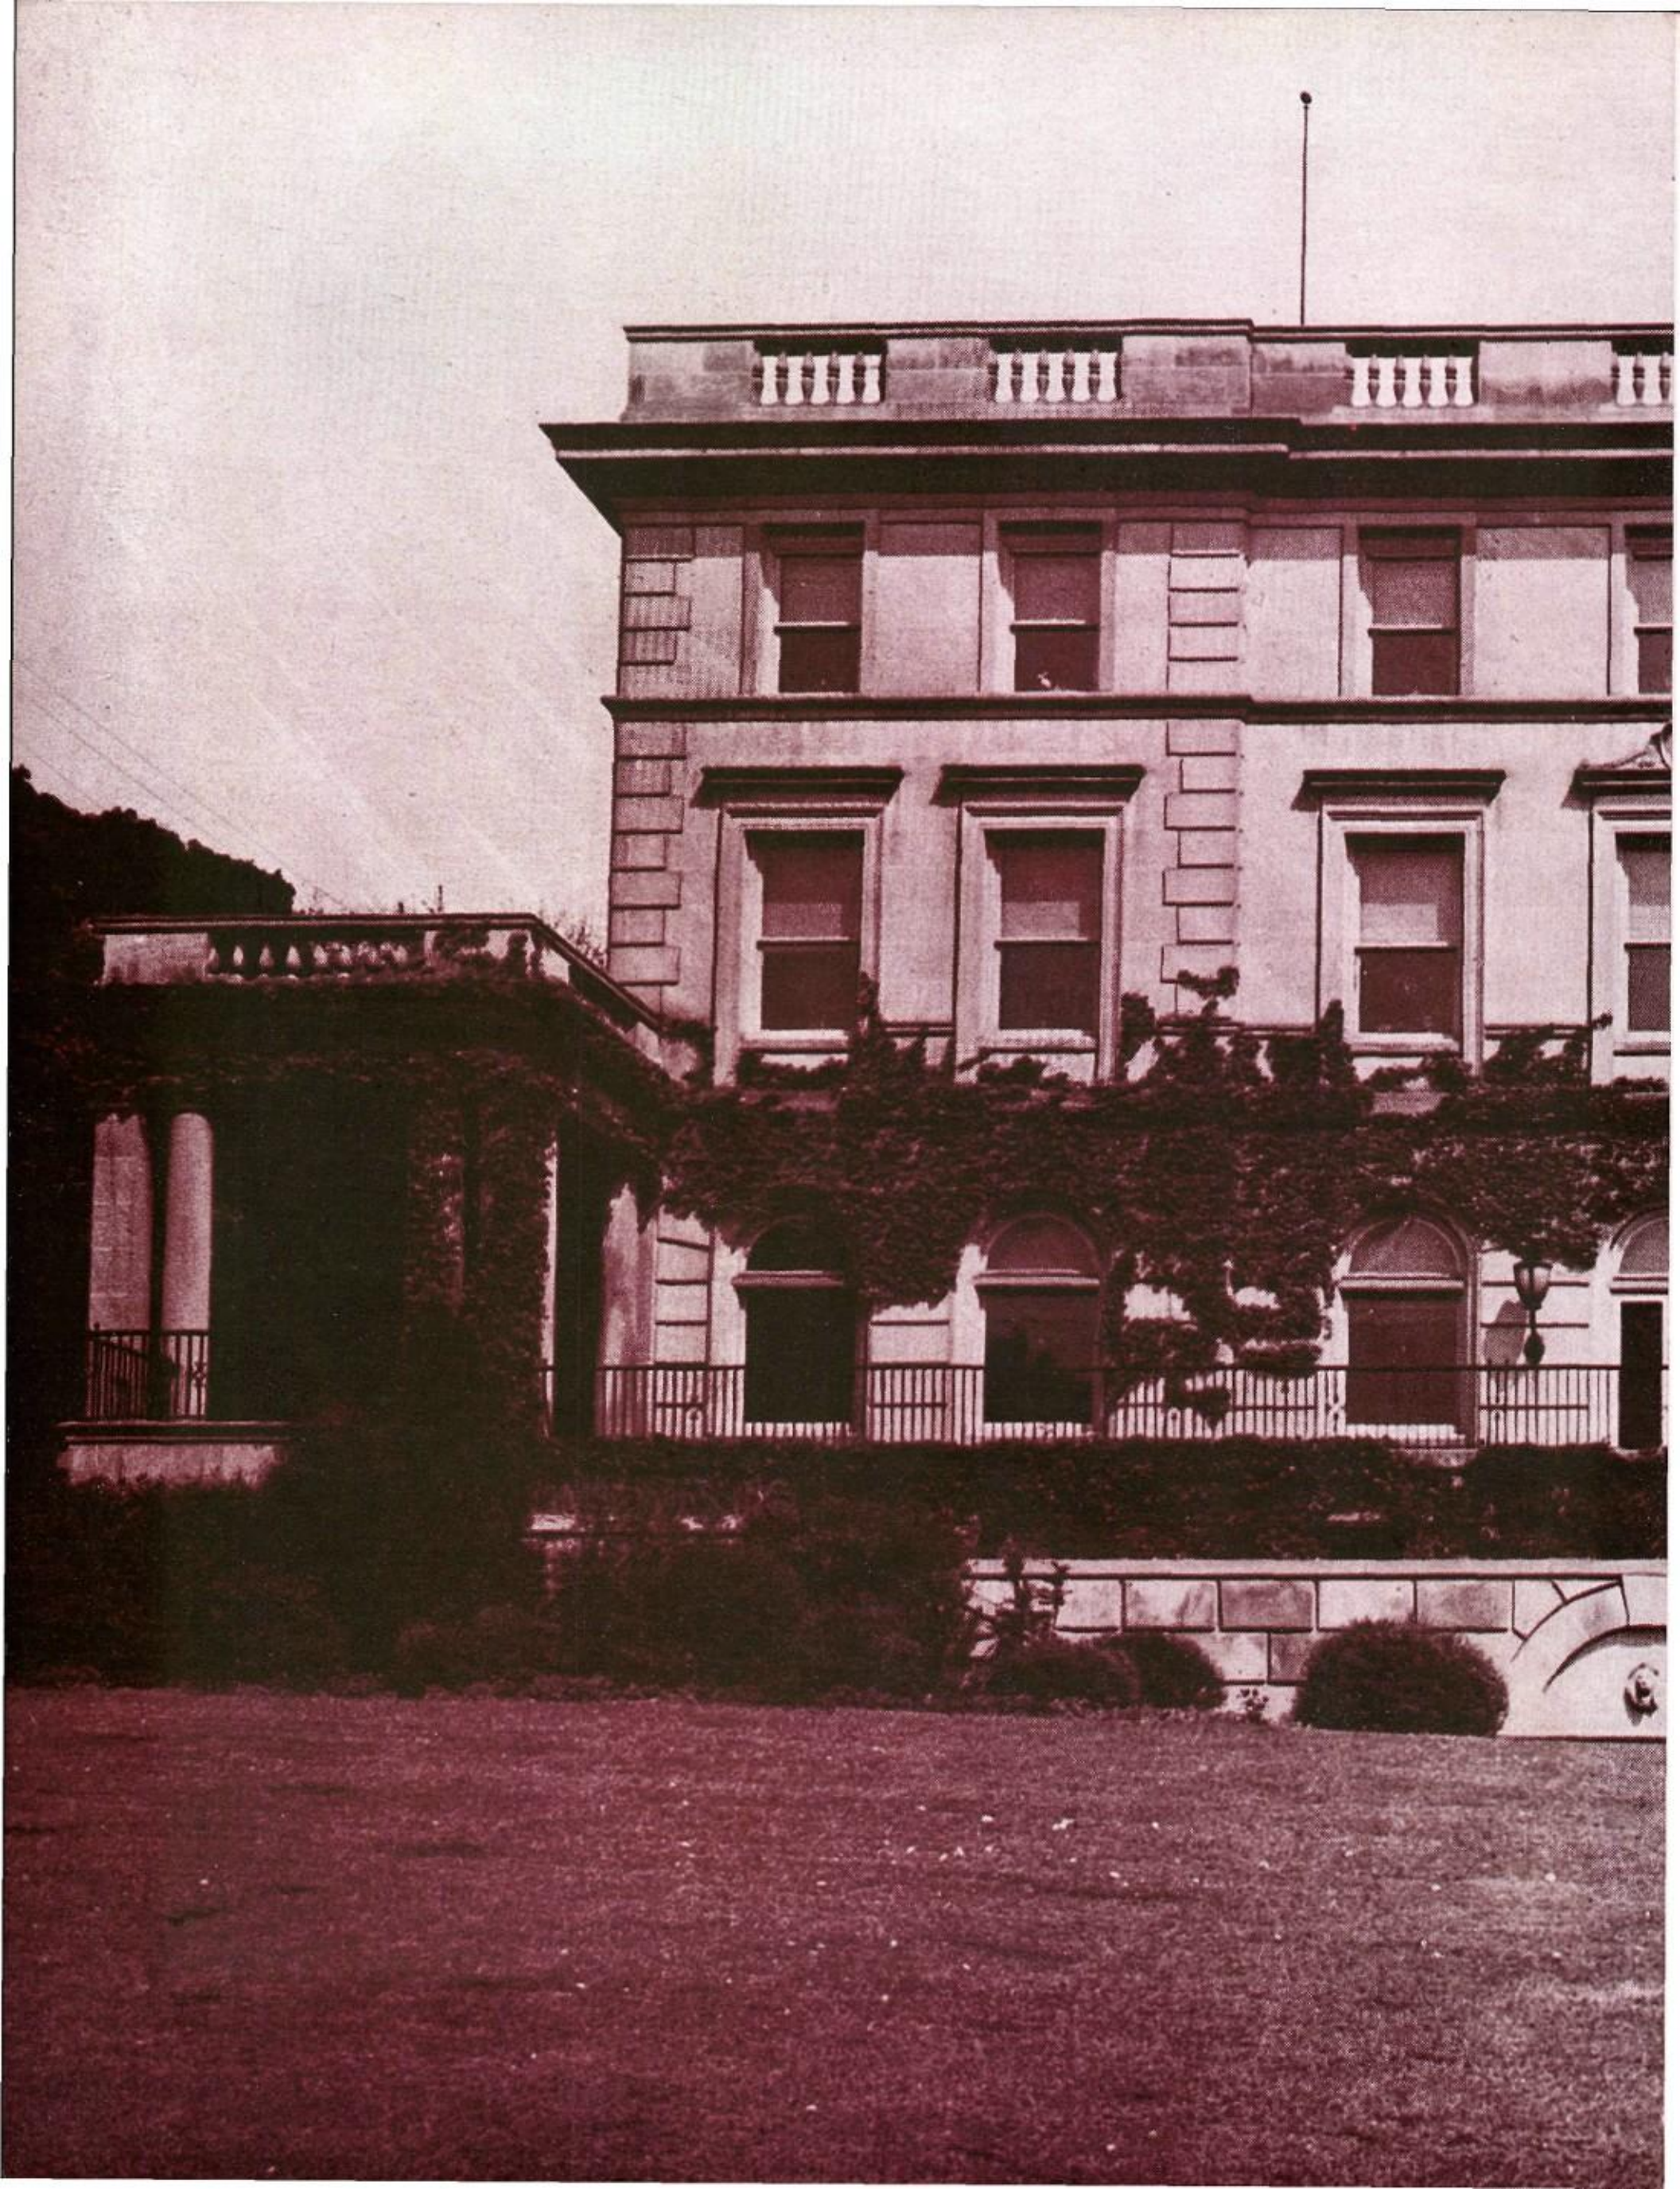

It is, therefore, with deep appreciation that the Senior Class of 1947 dedicates this edition of Centralma to the Reverend William A. Hammeke.

Reverend William A. Hammeke, assisted by Reverend Charles L. Allwein, principal, and Mr. Dominic Maurer, lays the cornerstone of the Annex.

THE REVEREND WILLIAM A. HAMMEKE
Founder

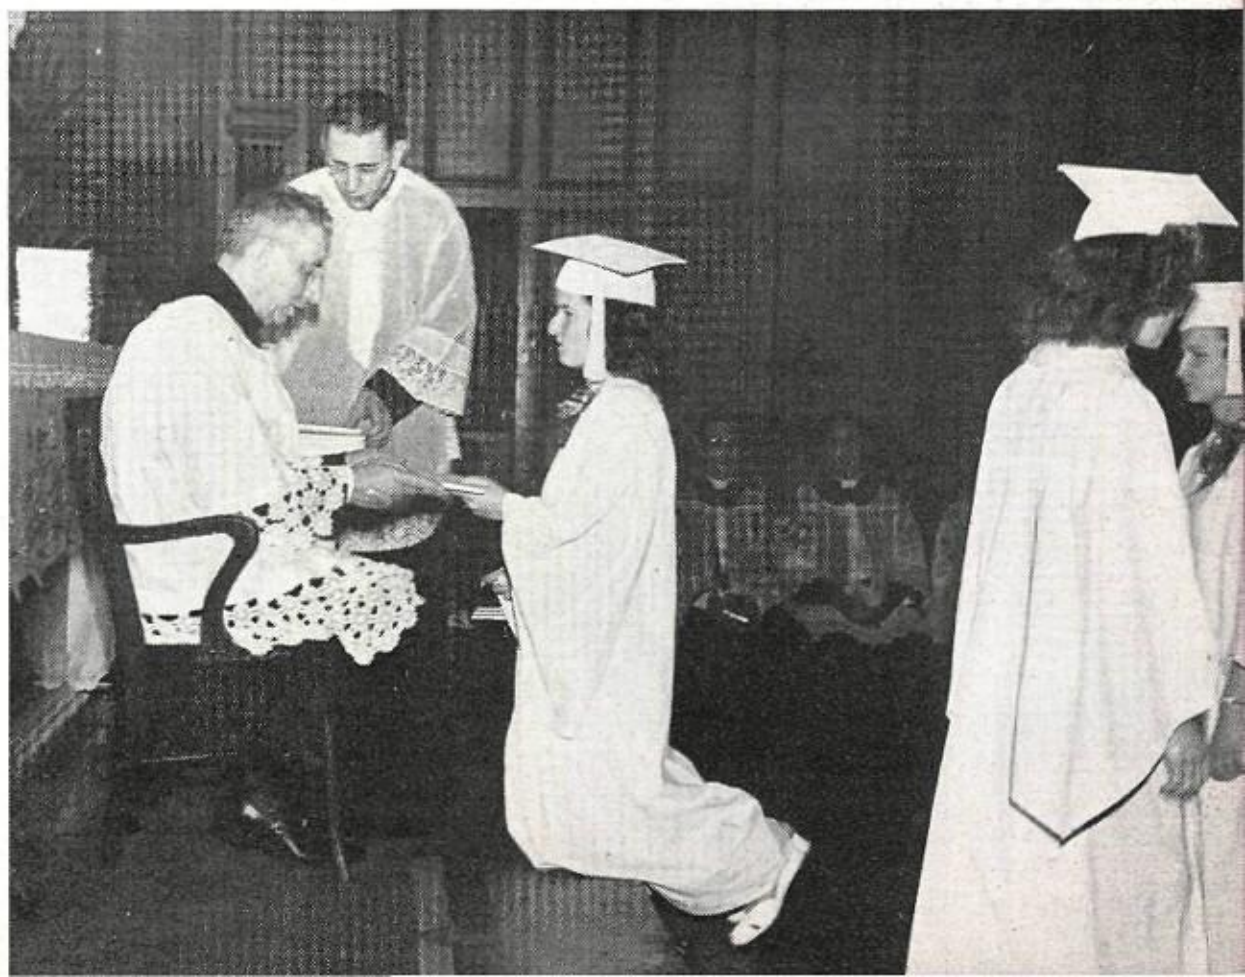

THE REVEREND JOHN N. WACHTER
Administrator

Champion of Youth

From the day he assumed his office as administrator of St. Paul parish, Father Wachter has manifested great interest in Central Catholic High School and in each of its students. Shortly after his appointment, he found it necessary, on account of the increased enrollment, to build additional rooms and facilities between the main building and the annex.

Under his capable leadership, the people of St. Paul parish are to be congratulated for the many sacrifices that they are making to continue the work begun by Father Hammeke.

Father Wachter, assisted by Father Allwein, confers diplomas on graduates of C. C. H. S.

Principal

Guardian of Youth's Ideals

His understanding sympathy and keen interest toward the students, combined with his knowledge and wisdom, make our principal, Father Allwein, not only a capable leader but also a cherished friend to every boy and girl. As such he shares our joys, cares, and secrets. The influence of his personality has enriched the life of each of us and will continue to be an inspiration in years to come.

His achievements are manifold, and his zeal for the welfare of those committed to his care demands their gratitude. To him, the guiding spirit of our Alma Mater, we are deeply indebted.

Father Allwein confers with Father Lechner.

Classes

Religion

Father Dombay, instructor of sophomore religion, explains the vestments used at Mass to D. Rapino, J. Redd, A. Potteiger, R. Merkel, J. Rocktashel, C. Neiman, and B. Pennypacker.

A. Swiezak, L. Ermentrout, C. Billinger, M. Dolan, L. Born, E. Aschenbrenner, T. Burns, E. Bullington, G. Aschenbrenner, J. Conlon, J. Del-Collo, W. Bennis, G. Brenciser, W. Berkey, E. Dobrowski, F. Bross, V. Cronin, and J. Bortzel write notes on religion dictated by Father McGrath.

As a preparation for the defense of their Faith, seniors, R. Didyoung, J. Chelius, R. Chelius, W. Curtin, J. Bullington, A. Strobel, H. Baczewski, F. Ashcroft, and M. Hawk receive instructions in apologetics for the proof of the existence of God from Father Holzhauser.

Religion, the most important subject in our school, is taught by priests, well-qualified to expound the doctrines of our Faith. Freshmen study the Life of Christ and the Apostles' Creed; sophomores become better acquainted with our Church History, the Mass, and the Sacraments; juniors study God's law of which the principal part is the Ten Commandments and the Precepts of the Church; seniors become adept in Apologetics.

English

Audio-visual aids are in vogue at Central. Students of senior English, P. Kolb, D. Ganter, F. Walter, R. Rymshaw, A. Girodo, J. Vogel, G. Erlacher, J. Daly, and J. Boaman, seem to be enjoying the sleep-walking scene from Macbeth.

Sister Rene instructs R. Young, J. Maurer, G. Keeney, E. Loeper, J. Tomasi, N. Krug, A. Maley, H. Nuding, J. Nestro, W. Soltis, J. Stiber, and J. Morris on the importance of the correct use of the dictionary.

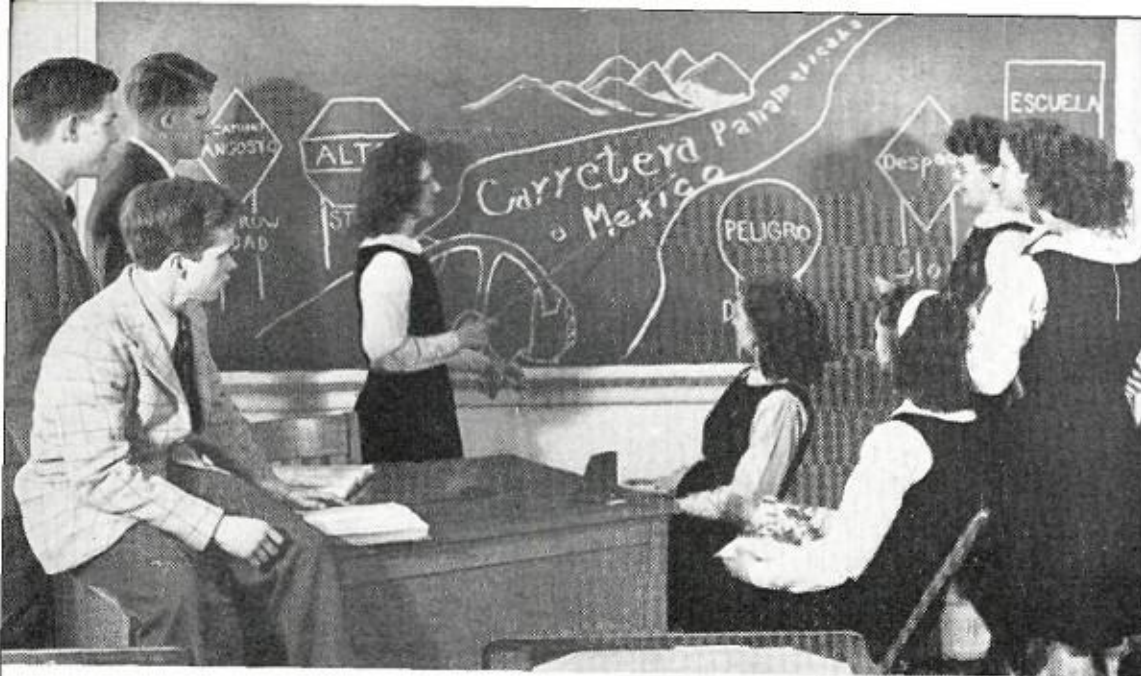

Advancement in the business and social world would be impossible without a knowledge of English grammar and proper speech, while the study of English literature augments the cultural background of our lives. What we read greatly influences our ideals and opinions.

Since English is so vital a subject, the students of our school receive a thorough training in the interpretation of the classics, appreciation of poetry, correct use of grammar, comprehensive study of words, and creative writing.

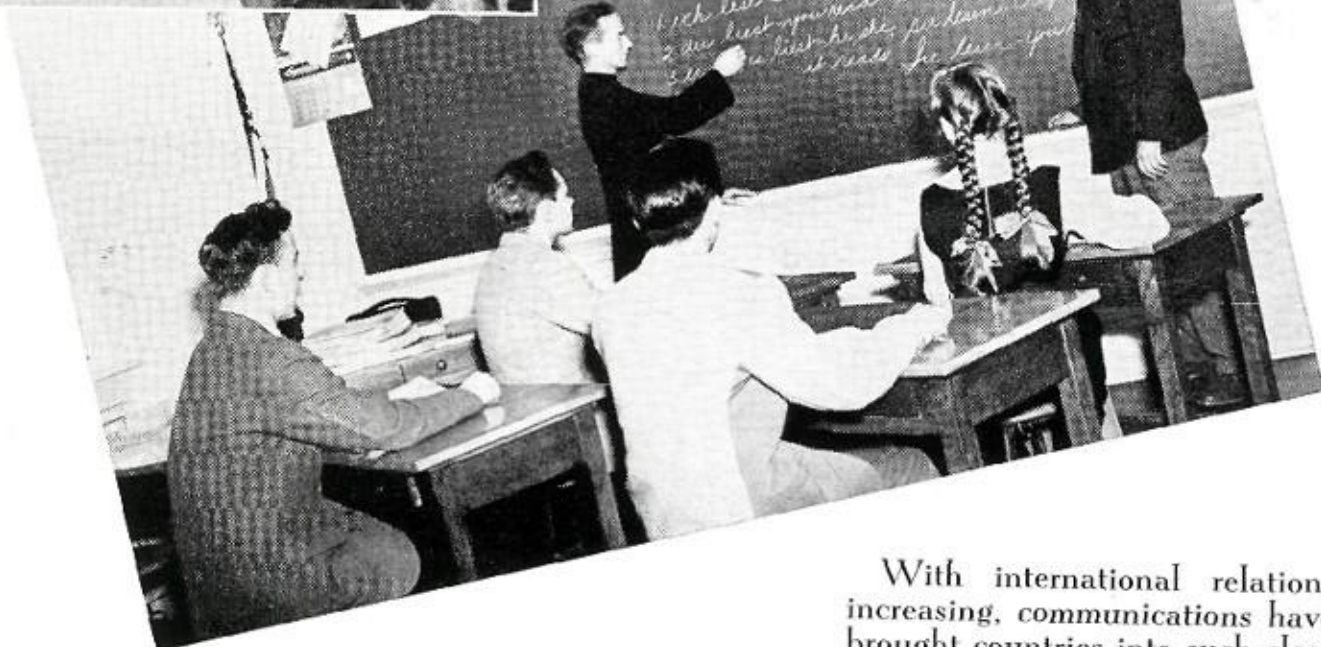

The escapades of Jerry Cruncher in Dickens' Tale of Two Cities hold the interest of these junior English students: R. Wisniewski, M. Raab, J. Zimmerman, J. Bruno, G. Brizek, C. Vogel, and M. Haage.

Father McGrath makes German conjugation easy for puzzled students: R. Botzum, G. Konesky, J. Bruno, E. Olfenderlein, and R. Kase.

Languages

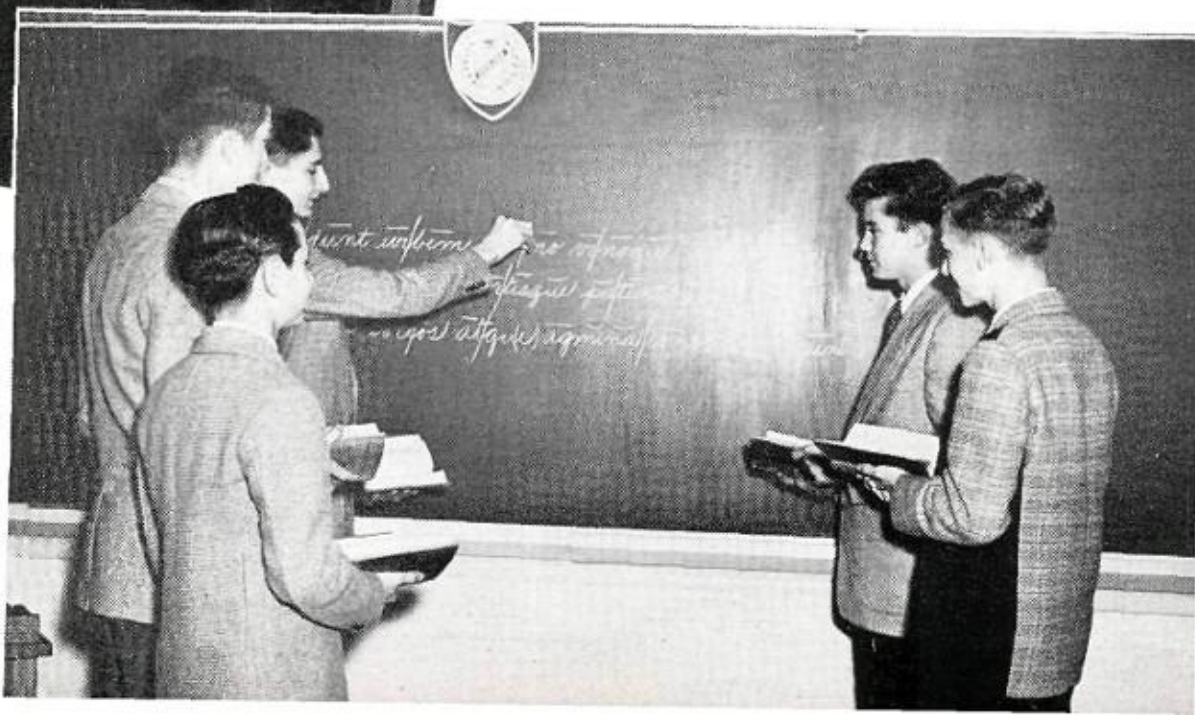

Taking in some of that South of the Border atmosphere are: C. Steffen, E. Stobenau, J. Gallen, D. Andrejansky, E. Rose, D. Volkl, D. Henry, A. Matthews, and M. Essig.

R. Tucci, E. Rearden, R. Vorsteg, R. Endter, J. Catalano, F. Kerber, and J. Ziembra learn the correct pronunciation of French.

With international relations increasing, communications have brought countries into such close contact that a knowledge of foreign languages is invaluable. The students of Central Catholic have ample opportunity to learn German, French, and Spanish. The study of Latin is likewise offered, and though it is considered a dead language, it aids greatly in building one's English vocabulary. The language classes are kept interesting by a study of the customs of the various countries, by stories, songs, and playlets.

L. Shannon, C. Tulley, E. Flamm, W. Hagmayer, and J. Heckman discover that in either English or Latin poetry, scansion is of great importance.

Social Studies

W. Mackay contrasts the boundaries in Europe today with those of past years. His interested listeners are: R. Herman, W. Sutton, F. Brungard, A. Klein, R. Daly, T. Nolan, B. Miller, D. Mayer, J. McGettigan, L. McFadden, and F. Heim.

E. Aschenbrenner, E. Guthier, T. Wierzbicki, J. Ciabattani, M. Weitzel, D. Blatt, P. Wierzbicki, J. Bortzel, J. Freeman, D. Impink can't seem to recognize the map of the world which they study in Sister Albert's history class.

Civics, history, and national problems help to make Centralites aware of the part they must play in an ever-changing world. With the knowledge of the history of their own country and that of the many nations whose people formed the nucleus of America, students are well prepared for life in the professional and business world.

H. Kozlowski directs questions to J. Redd, G. Hipp, R. Guidotti, H. Henrich, A. Goldman, J. Ludwig, J. Masley, R. Gruber, J. Kuhn, J. Janiszewski, A. Potteiger, R. Merkel, C. Neiman, J. Rearden, M. Rieger, A. Morganti, C. Pelfley, D. Rapino, and T. McGlinn in American history class.

From the six simple machines any large piece of machinery can be constructed. A. Kralczek, G. Ermentrout, D. Hammes, R. Szymanski, T. Powers, J. Greytok, and E. Freeburn are demonstrating this fact in the physics laboratory.

Through their course in advanced biology, T. Nowotarski, G. Wenger, A. Albrecht, D. Henry, P. Guldin, and T. Boulanger are learning the intricacies and functions of the human ear.

Sister Agnes Ann is explaining the make-up of the Ford motor to J. Ferreri, G. Rathman, F. Cittadini, P. Tetlak, R. Bentz, R. Kaminski, and R. Wanner as part of their course in automotive essentials.

V. Farrier, C. Cassidy, K. Auchter, F. Bigos watch closely as R. Borst makes an experiment which will produce nitric acid.

High school sciences are the basis for further study to the future biologists, chemists, doctors, medical and chemical technologists, and physicists.

General science is pursued by the freshmen who wish to study it; biology must be studied by all sophomores. Since this is the Atomic Age, chemistry plays an important part in the curriculum of the junior who looks forward to becoming a Nobel prize winner in science, while to those juniors who desire it, electricity is offered. Senior sciences include physics and advanced biology.

Sciences

Pre-professional affords these medical-minded girls, S. Donaldson, M. McQuaite, E. Moll, and A. Richards, a glimpse into their future studies.

So that they may be prepared for further study in the field of electricity, R. Smith, R. Rymshaw, W. Rossi, A. Holland, G. Rocktashel, and M. Falter listen attentively while F. Tobias explains the simple dynamo.

Albert Mayer

A. Mayer, by means of the respiration apparatus, explains the processes of inspiration and expiration to these students of general science: R. McFadden, C. Guidara, W. Mierzejewski, B. Majka, G. Rolind, and B. Keffler.

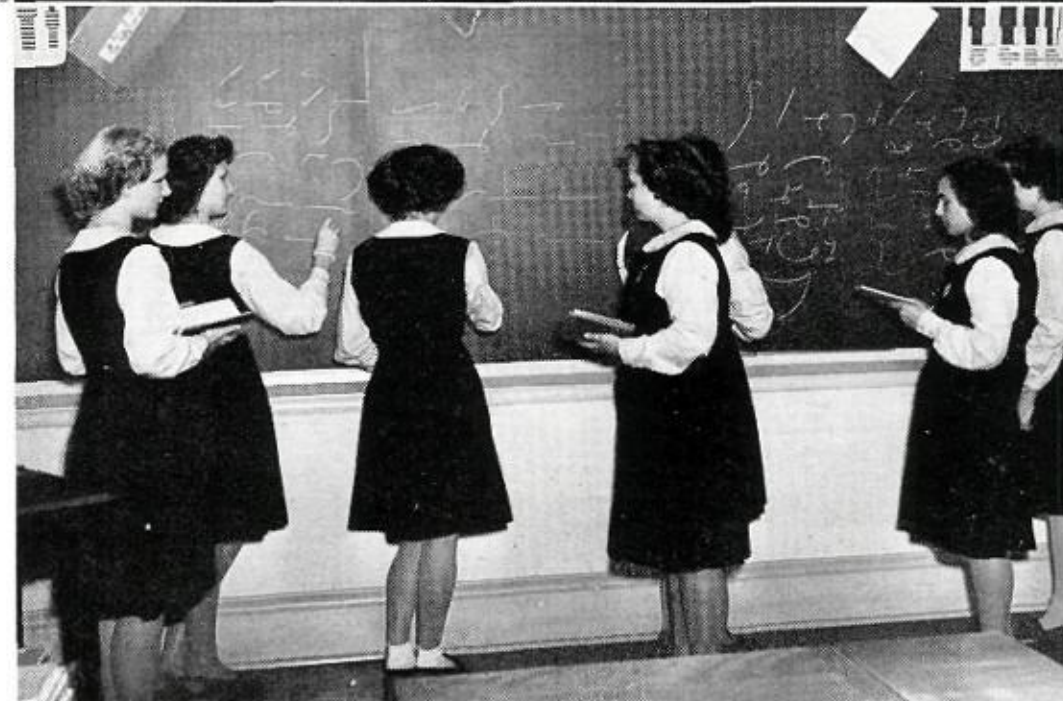

Some secretarial positions require a knowledge of mimeographing. M. Spuhler, J. Fleming, A. Ruoff, and M. Slapikas are getting practical experience for their future careers.

These junior girls, C. Silvi, M. Vorsteg, J. Sockel, R. Schwoyer, L. Kline, A. Sieber, and L. Schuler, are receiving their initial training in the fundamentals of bookkeeping.

It may look like Greek, but it's shorthand to M. Loomis, M. Beresford, J. Hannon, G. Boaman, R. Crocona, R. Mello, and M. Adams.

Receiving their first taste of business life in junior business training are these sophomore girls: D. Uliasz, A. Malpede, P. Ely, R. Loeper, C. Lillis, D. Skrocki, and D. Dombroski.

Commercial-minded girls of C. C. H. S. are spurred on by the thought of success in the business world, which offers positions ranging from the office of the understenographer to that of the high executive. The Commercial Course offers a sufficient number of academic subjects to satisfy the college entrance requirements; attention throughout the course, however, is directed primarily to stenography, typewriting, stenotyping, bookkeeping, office practice, and salesmanship. The graduate of the Commercial Course is well equipped for a career in the modern business world.

*Ladies Lunch & Lane

Commercial

Under the supervision of Sister Frances, J. Schwank, L. Grossman, M. Purcell, H. Hildebrand, C. Bausman, A. Bauer, M. Merkel, M. Pachulo, W. Pfommer, M. Fiskaldo, A. Kern, R. Croona, D. Bukowski, D. Brailer, C. Vogel, R. Loeper, and R. Gerhart become adept typists.

H. Rowley, B. Rodrock, B. Kugler, and D. Metz write the letters on their stenotype machines as quickly as M. Koras dictates them.

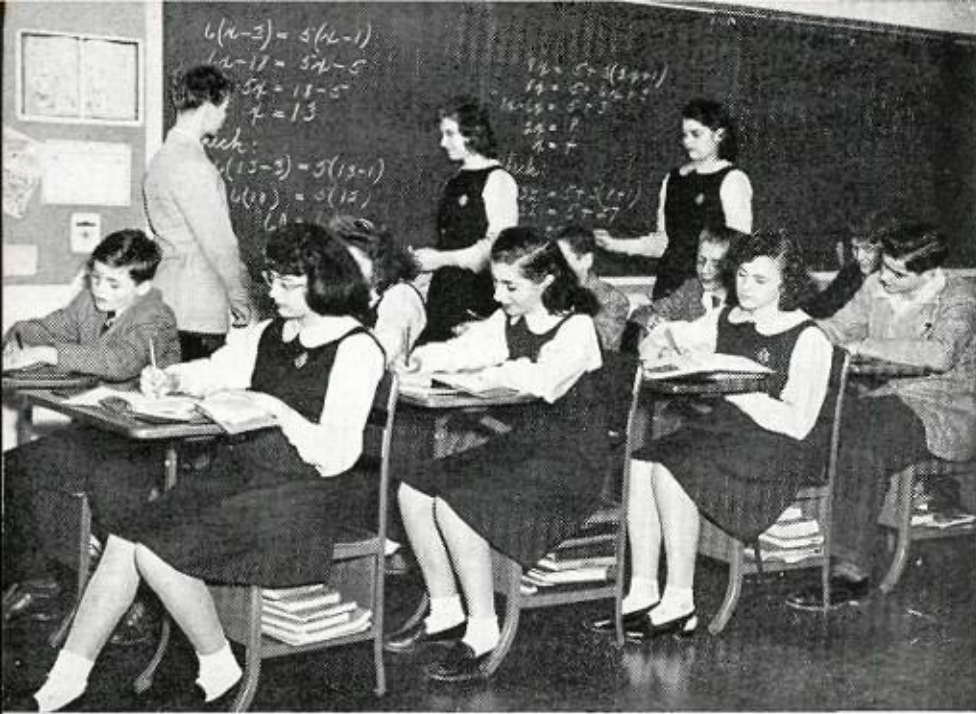

Many of today's executives demand secretaries trained in the use of the dictaphone plus the qualities of loyalty, attractive personality, intelligence, and good judgment. S. Karwoski, A. Scholl, and R. Loeper as well as other students of business appreciate the opportunity of this training.

Seniors G. Murray, H. Klinikowski, M. Bentz, and M. Rearden easily master the technique of the electric bookkeeping machine after a year's training.

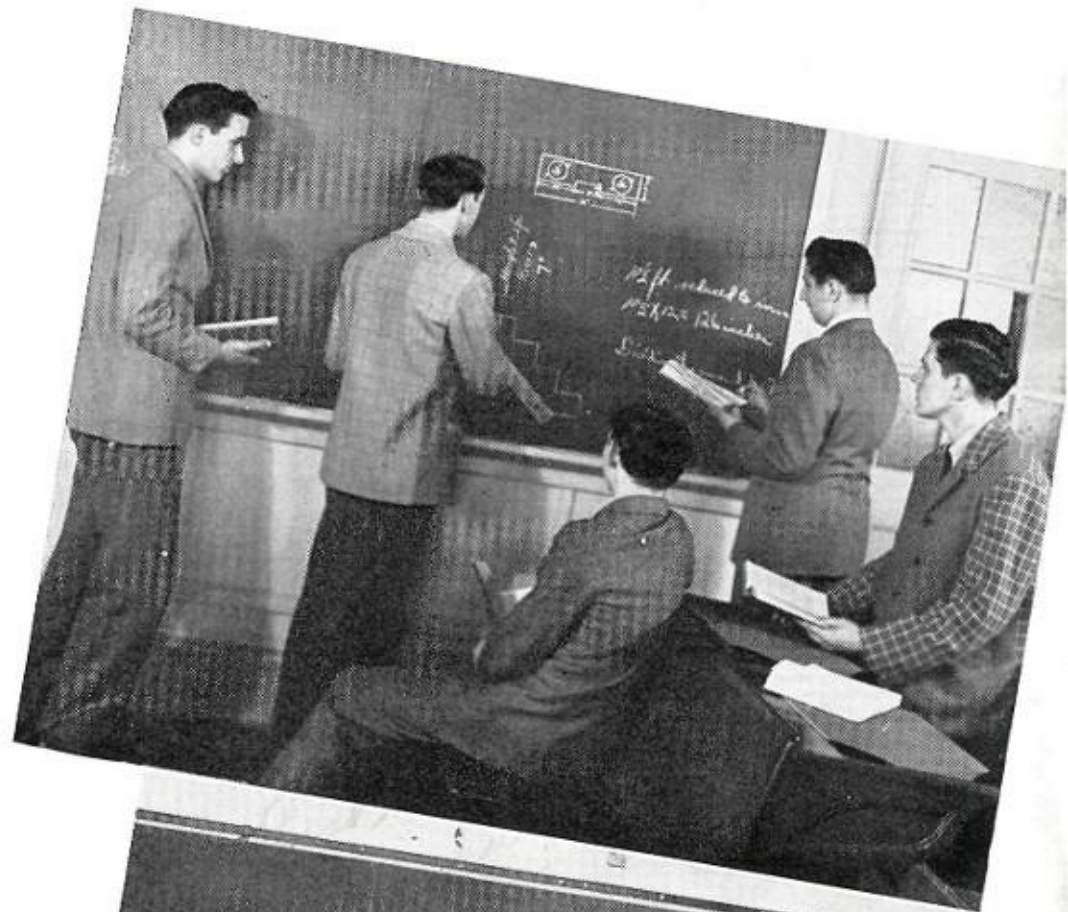

Mathematics

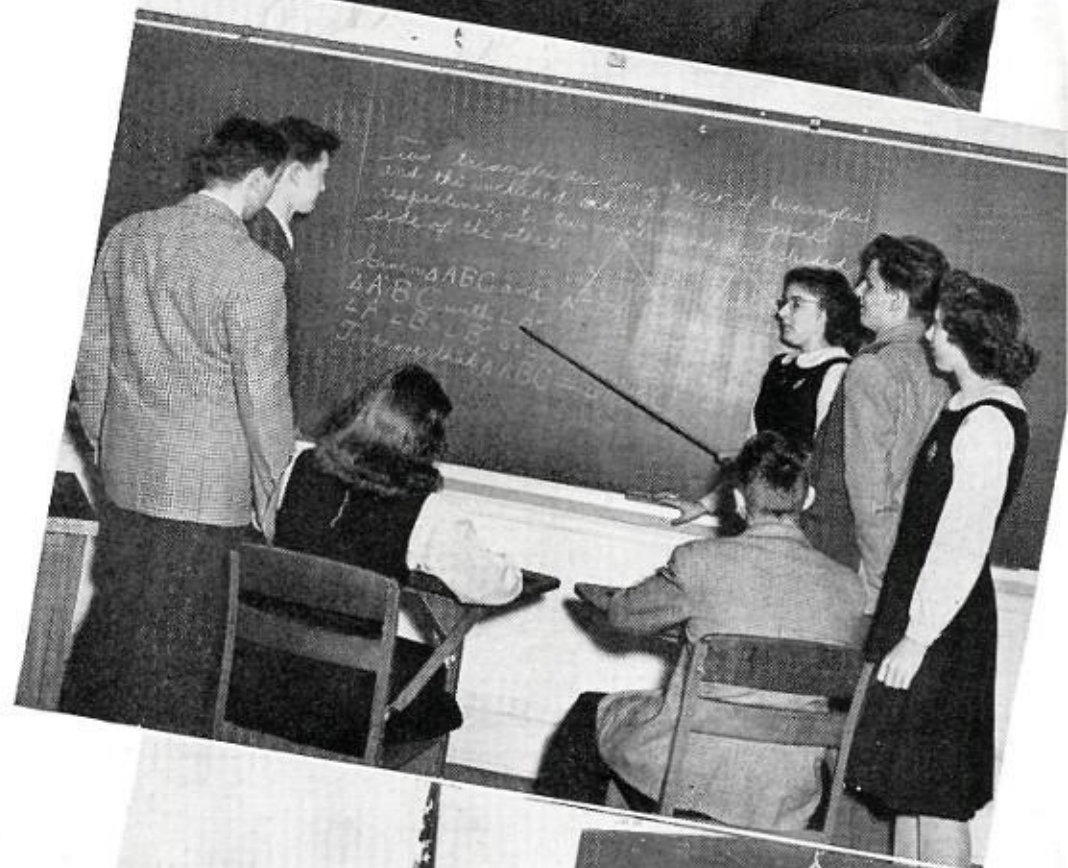

Algebra is very fascinating when one understands it. J. Foshnacht, D. Boylan, and A. Colesworthy, explain their algebra problems on the board while D. Fitzpatrick, E. Buser, P. Wanger, W. Flanagan, G. Faller, V. Bruno, J. Carabello, B. Schwank, and G. Gaspari check them at their desks.

R. Kubeck and J. Waradzin illustrate the value of mathematics in construction work to T. Farrier, G. Henrich, and D. Buser.

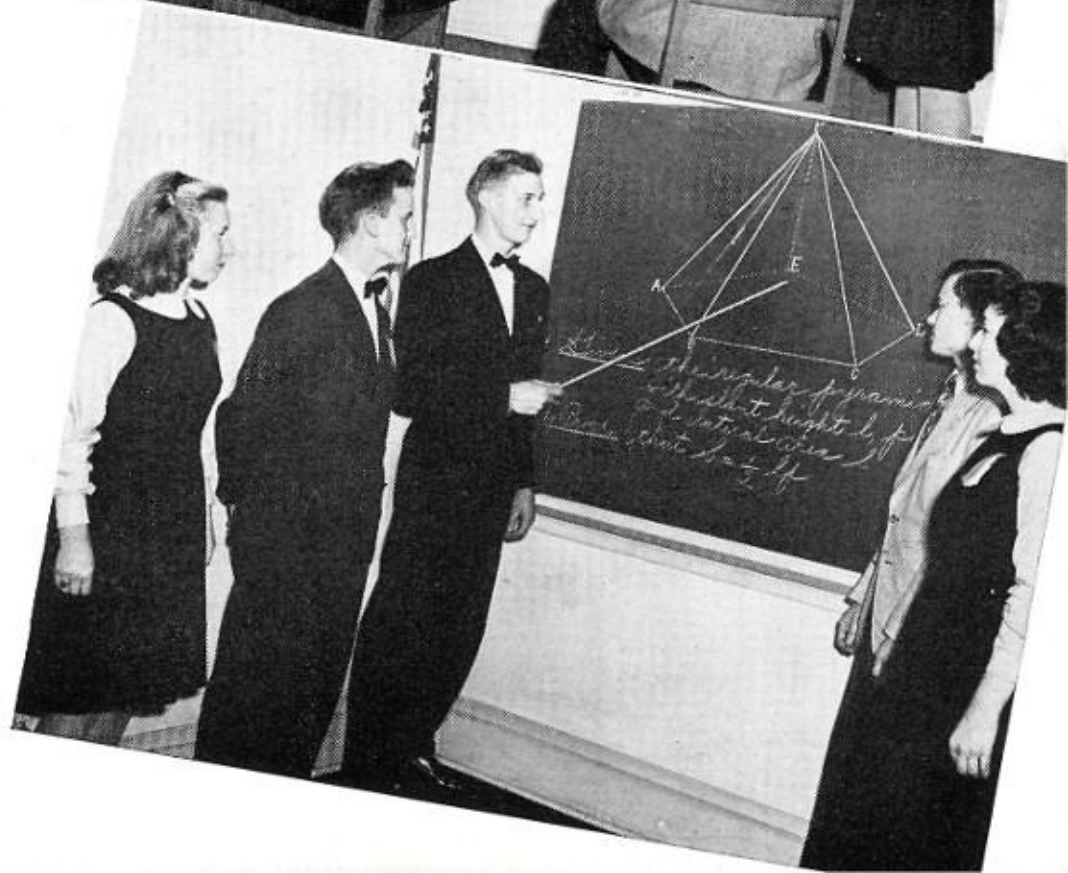

E. Letham shows how to prove two triangles congruent by SAS to C. Witham, G. Humma, M. Mohan, J. Ermentrout, E. Gromis, and C. Elbert.

Progress depends to a large extent on mathematics. To the boys and girls who plan a career in aviation, mechanics, engineering, or other scientific fields, Central offers nine complete courses in mathematics. Formulas and problems may prove difficult at first to those who undertake them, but study makes them simple and almost automatic. So while algebra students look for "x" and trigonometry enthusiasts find "tangents," they look to the future when they shall make use of their practical knowledge.

The complexities of solid geometry do not seem to baffle J. Vogel, J. Fleischmann, E. Levandowski, G. Linette, and P. Daly.

J. McFadden, R. Stubblebine, and J. Rose are hoping that R. Bauer and R. Didyoung can be revived as the result of the artificial respiration applied by P. Henry and R. Harter.

Under the direction of Mr. Joseph Schaaf and Miss Virginia Illuzzi, health and hygiene courses give the students the knowledge necessary to keep themselves physically fit.

Should a student become ill during a school day, needed attention is provided in the infirmary.

Miss V. Illuzzi checks on the weight of L. Mitchell, A. Mieltski, and G. Mackowiak.

Mr. J. Schaaf points out the causes of a toothache in the sophomore hygiene class to P. McDevitt, A. Morganti, J. Purcell, G. Kerber, J. Warker, A. Myatt, F. Quire, J. Rearden, J. Rahe, H. Ramsey, J. Green, and A. Meridionale.

Under the careful supervision of Miss V. Illuzzi, senior girls are being taught what to do "before the doctor arrives". Here I. Hassler, R. Elbert, J. Frank, M. Buckley, A. Kazmierczak, F. Eisenhofer, and S. Karwoski are demonstrating the finer points of several kinds of bandages.

Health

R. Elbert, J. Vogel, C. Loeper, A. Patrick, and M. Michels display their skill with the needle by the apparel they model.

Home Economics

Smart young homemakers design, make, and model their own clothes; plan well-balanced, economical meals; and keep a tidy, attractive home.

At Central Catholic girls interested in homemaking spend one term studying foods, planning, and preparing meals. Another semester is devoted to the study of proper styles, pattern cutting, and the making of all the articles of a girl's wardrobe.

A typical scene in Central's sewing room: A. Kern very carefully fits R. Loeper's new skirt. I. Wilson, M. Fiskaldo, and M. Essig diligently work on their garments in order to have them finished for the fashion show.

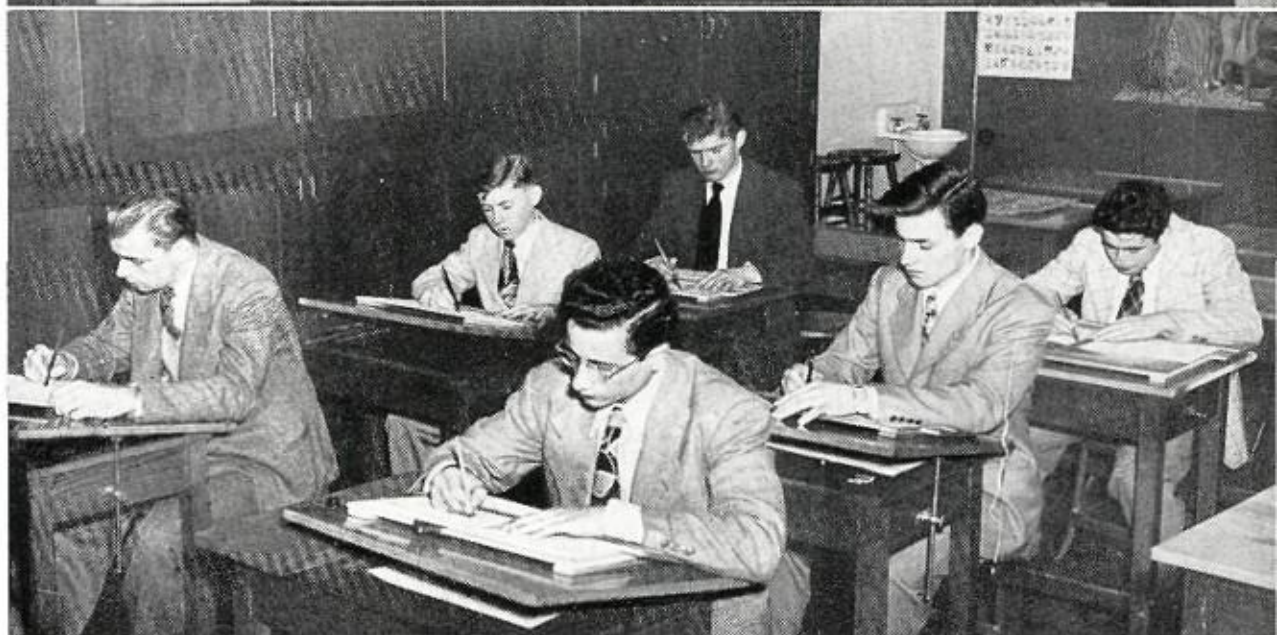

Since the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, A. Patrick and A. Felix learn to stir together a tasty dish while J. Calvaresi reads the directions.

Art

Freshman students of art receive instruction in water color as well as in the fundamentals of design. They also study the masters and their works, thus creating for themselves a background of Catholic culture through art appreciation.

The major art students' curriculum includes charcoal drawing, stipple work, water color, pen and ink drawing, and illustration.

Courses in mechanical drawing and in ceramics are open to juniors and seniors.

Blue-print reading is part of the work of second year mechanical drawing. K. Stuart, R. Waldman, B. Soltysik, J. Loeper, J. Voelker, K. Wysopal, and P. Kolb are trying their skill at reading some prints.

J. Deibert, J. Sullivan, J. Breedy, A. Rossi, G. Rocktashel, and R. Grab practice the fundamental principles of drafting in mechanical drawing class.

Members of the third year art class, R. Stengel, N. Sweeney, P. Kane, M. J. Rutolo, and J. Geiger, study the human head.

Adding the "master's touch" to their spectrums are these students of freshman art: D. Kozlowski, D. Ludwikowski, C. Kozlowska, H. Nuding, J. Machusick, M. Magenbauer, P. O'Brien, S. Dybalski, C. Gehringer, W. Prutzman, M. Mulligan, A. Maley, C. Manuszak, I. Mamrock, G. Keeney, and M. Noble.

Future Tommy Dorseys, Robert Chelius and George Ermentrout, give out on the slide horn during one of their jam sessions.

"Within your walls may it be said that hidden treasures lie . . ."
Displaying some of that treasure on "the world's sweetest instrument" is our violin quartet composed of M. Rearden, P. Rearden, A. Kazmierczak, and C. Mianuszak.

Central's "men with the horns," D. Spaeth, F. Bross, and R. Helfrich, really produce some solid music.

Music

"Practice makes perfect." The musicians practice on their individual instruments during an entire class period each day; hence, a violin solo here, a clarinet, trombone, and French horn melody there.

The band renders outstanding service to the school by performing at all important activities of the year.

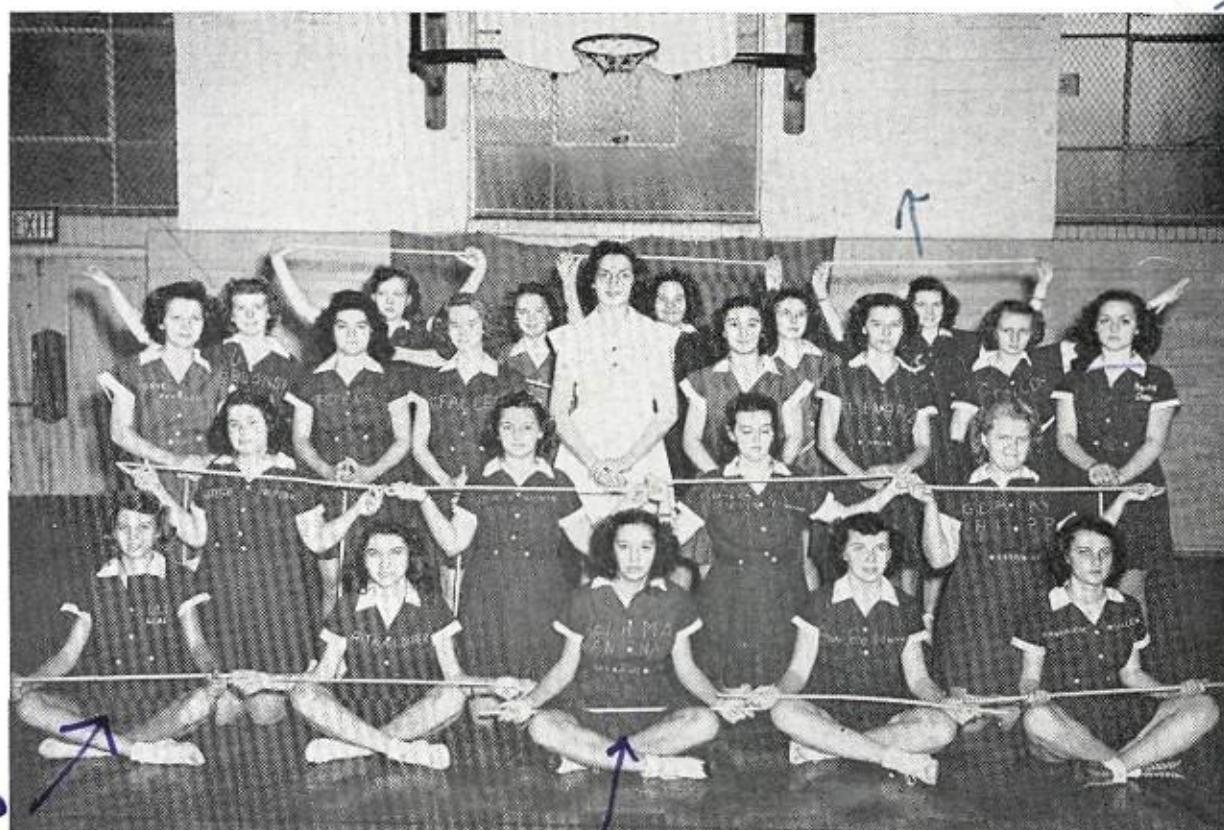

Affording Jimmy Dorsey some competition are the music students: L. Waldman, M. Brehm, J. O'Reilly, and J. McGlinn, who play the "licorice sticks."

All the students, except those physically handicapped, are registered in the physical education department for four years of training. Under the instruction of two excellent physical education teachers, the students develop skill in gymnastics, physical control, and self-discipline.

Physical Education

G. Guzowski leads her teammates, M. Humma, M. Gehringer, J. Karli, E. Hiester, and J. Govern outside for a brisk volleyball game.

Junior boys strengthen their bodies by exercise. Foremost among the group are: K. Auchter, J. Geiger, C. Steffen, S. Wiechecki, R. Daly, R. Feicht, and R. Spaar.

I. Schmitt, B. Kazmierczak, M. Miloni, N. Klink, and M. Paris find that a stop at the water fountain is "the pause that refreshes."

Troublesome keys and crowded lockers do not seem to dampen the spirits of these sophomores: B. Sapiego, E. Breneiser, M. Bausman, B. Suck, and M. Ammon.

In and Around

With rosters and books in hand, "freshies," E. DiBlasi, E. Elbert, R. Endler, M. Noble, S. Oswald, and E. Dombrosky, check on the correct room for their next period.

Tradition prevails that seniors only may use the marble stairs. J. Fleischmann and M. Hawk impress this on these "freshies": L. Born, M. Weiser, S. Buzalewska, C. Bren-eiser, D. Zuwiala, J. Bricker, R. Yurkiewicz, J. Bettler, B. Rohrbach, W. Bennis, and W. Zukowski.

Central

The beautiful campus attracts newcomers, J. Rutolo, E. Kolb, L. Reddington, E. Pietczyk, M. Nawrocki, E. Stankiewicz, and C. Sullivan before the 8:30 bell.

Father Vath, an army ex-chaplain, displays some of his pieces of art collected in Italy to G. Blaum, R. Turner, A. Kohl, W. Kulak, A. Krafczek, R. Rymshaw, A. Sieber, F. Quire, and J. Franey.

A last minute bulletin concerning the next school dance, featuring the "Serenaders," draws the attention of B. Sheidy, M. Weiser, M. Spohn, T. Sosh, J. Kaufmann, D. Skibinski, A. Pettit, R. Patrick, H. Trompeter, J. Freeman, B. Schuler, P. Toye, and J. McCauley.

S. Donaldson, J. Bertolet, J. Kase, P. LaFata, M. Rieger, B. Penny-packer, D. Volkl, and P. Wancho gather on the porch before a meeting of the representatives of the Student Association.

Central's well-equipped library provides a perfect spot to do research for E. Devlin, V. Diener, J. Henrich, L. Gusavage, R. Katzenmoyer, R. Flannery, J. Gallagher, and R. Henry.

Let's give them a hand!

W. Ludwikowski, G. Kane, J. Karli, V. Cronan, C. Manuszak, R. Parks, E. Pietryk, D. Skibinski, L. Ermentrout, and C. Sullivan discuss the responsibilities and duties they have assumed as freshman delegates to the Student Association.

Counselors

Ex-servicemen, P. Kolb and R. Zientek, judging from their smiles, receive some pleasant news from Father Allwein.

The Guidance Program of Central Catholic High School is most adequate, having for its objective the spiritual and temporal welfare of each student through personal attention, guidance, and counsel.

Throughout their career in high school, the students are given educational and vocational information through the homeroom teachers under the immediate direction of the principal and the counselors. Moreover, the guidance offices in connection with the school library, feature a small library of occupational literature, college, and trade school information.

Sister Frances, counselor of girls, deviates from her classroom duties to listen to the problems of M. Essig.

of Youth

Receiving some well-needed advice from Father Lechner, a friend of every Centralite, is junior Gerald Blaum.

Students are interviewed several times during the school year by the counselors and the principal.

Since a well-organized follow-up program is the best means of testing the adequacy of any guidance setup and correcting mistakes, questionnaires are sent to graduates and employers. Colleges, too, are asked to submit a report of the grades obtained by the graduates at the end of each quarter. Answers thus obtained are studied and kept on file to help the teachers and directors to improve the guidance program.

Sister Ottilia, prefect of studies, assists E. Ryan in choosing her roster for the senior year.

Contributors of Centralma, D. Stephens, G. Erlacher, M. Slapikas, R. Stubblebine, H. Baczewski, A. Albrecht, and F. Ashcroft, plan attractive layouts for the yearbook.

at Work

Co-editors of Hillside Echoes, J. Greytok and A. Albrecht, explain steps in the preparation of the dummy to G. Erlacher.

Youth has the opportunity to manifest its ideas through the school publications Centralma and Hillside Echoes. Students who wish to enter upon a career in the literary field can obtain a foundation through staff work.

Under faculty guidance, literary talent is developed, and students find encouragement and joy in seeing their articles in print.

Typists H. Rowley, S. Karwoski, M. Bentz, A. Ruoff, and B. Rodrock prepare Hillside Echoes for mailing to subscribers.

Past issues of Hillside Echoes offer material for M. Hotrigan, T. Boulanger, R. Szymanski, T. Powers, D. Kazmierczak, and M. Slapikas to study and improve upon.

At the inauguration of the student officers, Father Allwein congratulates J. Fleischmann who was elected school president. C. Steffen, B. Miller, J. Baeck, P. Daly, M. Hawk, E. Flamm, K. Auchter, H. Rowley, R. Stubblebine, M. Horrigan, T. Powers, J. Fleming, and L. Dybalski also receive felicitations from Father on their election as members of the Student Association.

Student Association Promotes Student Activities

"I will strive for better government, for the attainment of high ideals, for the uplift of the association, both alone and with others . . . " When the officers elected by the juniors of C. C. H. S. recited these words, they automatically assumed the duties and privileges of Student Association Officials.

This organization aims to establish complete cooperation between the faculty and the student body.

B. Miller, J. Fleischmann, M. Hawk, L. Dybalski, H. Rowley, E. Flamm, P. Daly, R. Stubblebine, M. Horigan, K. Auchter, J. Baeck, J. Fleming, and C. Steffen, council members of the Student Association, listen to T. Powers as he outlines his ideas for the coming dance.

Cronan, newly elected members of the Student Association, agree that Central's campus is a beautiful spot.

Night of Nights

January 24, gold and white decorations, Whitey Meisky's arrangements, dancing couples, and chaperons sum up the annual Junior Frolic.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Schwartz and Mr. and Mrs. J. Leier, chaperones, omit a dance to chat with P. Daly, C. Elbert, G. Humma, and E. Flamm, committee members.

Song of Songs

Though the orchestra has departed, K. Quire, F. Ashcroft, P. Henry, J. Vogel, J. Vogel, E. Rearden, F. Walter, B. Rodrock, M. Slapikas, J. Fleischmann, C. Dell, A. Felix, A. Schultz, and R. Stubblebine seem loathe to leave the dance hall.

One of the most cherished memories of the seniors is their springtime Promenade. Warm weather and gay music together with the swish of swirling skirts, the fragrance of fresh flowers, and tuxedo-dressed boys concluded their twelve years of learning.

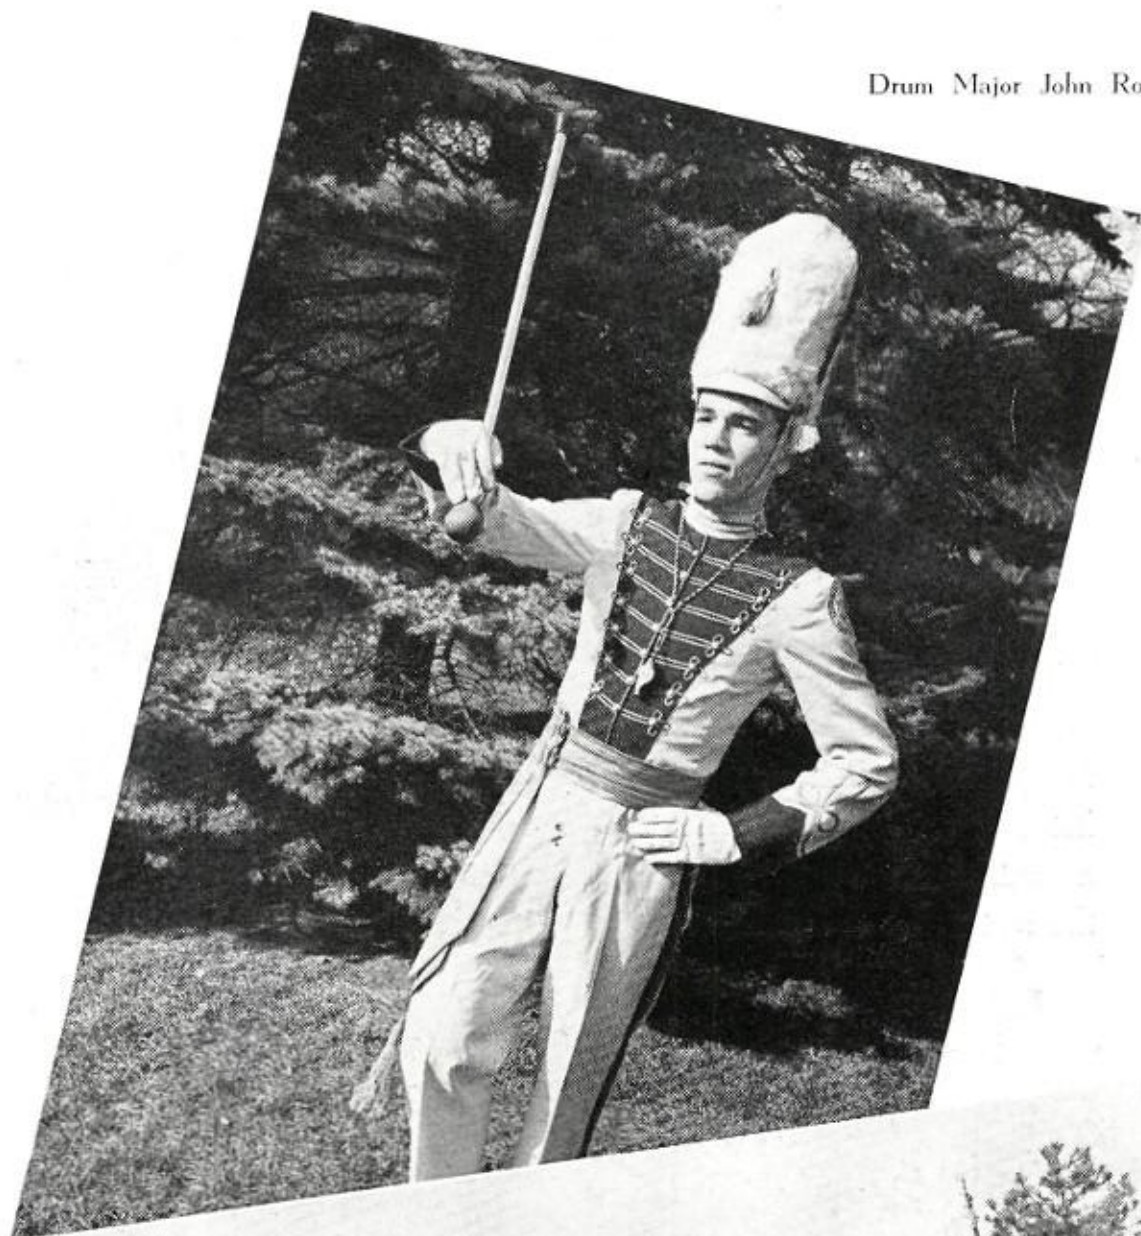

A sudden hush comes over the fans gathered in the stadium when these youthful musicians, nattily attired in smart red and gold uniforms, march across the field at the football games. They also enliven all assemblies with their gay music.

A Pause in Our

With studies their main interest during the school year, all Centralites take time out for spiritual needs in their "Annual Holy Week Retreat." Inaugurating the services each day is the holy sacrifice of the Mass. Periods during the day are devoted to spiritual reading, conferences, meditation, and the recitation of the rosary. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and the Papal Blessing closed the retreat.

After the close of the retreat Father McCarthy, retreat master, relates his experiences in the Amazon wilds to C. Paci, M. Valeriano, J. Bullington, L. Scheider, M. Spuhler, and M. Tazik.

Regular Routine

Preparations for the annual candlelight supper are in the making at a gathering of the Mothers' Club officers: President, Mrs. R. Kase; Treasurer, Mrs. G. Auchter; 2nd Vice-president, Mrs. J. Devlin; 1st Vice-president, Mrs. F. Didyoung; Secretary, Mrs. A. Rearden; Financial Secretary, Mrs. J. Curtin.

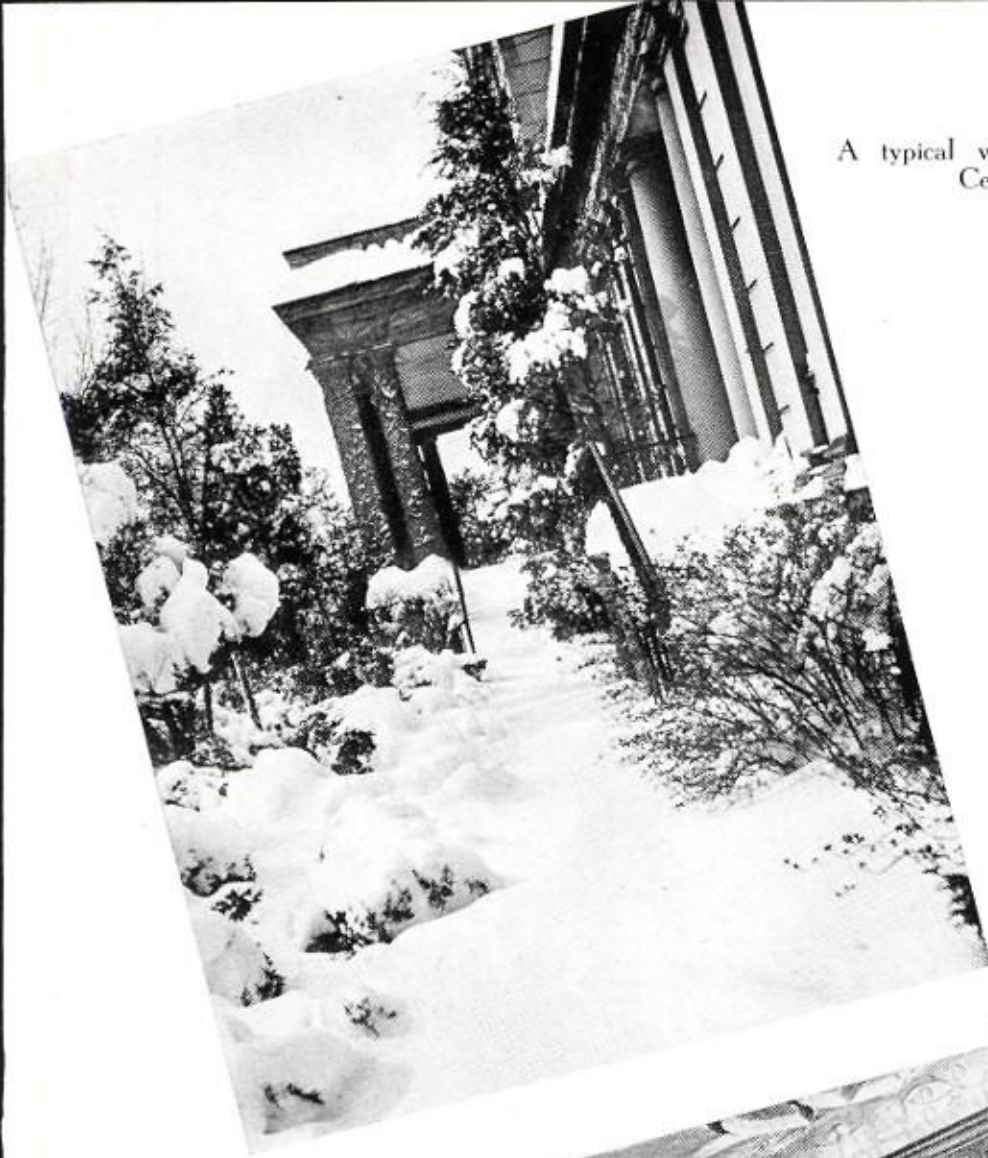

Rain and snow do not dampen the spirits of the mothers as they turn out en masse and are registered by Mrs. George Tarves at a recent meeting.

The Men Who

Coached by Larry Tierney and his assistants, J. Donaldson, J. Schaaf, S. Hydock, and J. Buckley, Central's fighting eleven got an even break for the season. By virtue of four wins, four losses, and one draw, the Red Birds boasted a .500 average. The four losses came from the hands of LaSalle, Delone, Allentown Central, and Mt. Carmel. Two of these games were lost by slim margins, and the tie was with Camden Catholic at 12-all.

Pound the Grid

PITTSTON HIGH SCHOOL

An inspired Red and White eleven opened its '46 grid season with a hard-fought 7-0 win over a strong Pittston club. The first six-pointer of the season was chalked up by Tom Powers, Central's big left end, who later suffered a hand injury which ended his pigskin career.

MT. CARMEL

Central's first game on foreign ground was marred by a 7-6 defeat. The scrappy "Cards" offensive was hampered by the loss of Jack Chelius, speedy left half, who received a shoulder injury early in the game.

PANTHER VALLEY

The Centralmen bounced back from their defeat to trounce Panther Valley, 20-6. The game was sparked by Jim Boaman's startling offensive and defensive play.

CAMDEN CATHOLIC

Outweighed and outplayed, the Tierneymen shook off a 12-0 handicap and tied things up at 12-12 in the last few minutes of the thrill-packed game. Bill Curtin and Frankie Heim produced the timely touchdowns.

Gridiron Combination

Racks Up Second Successful Year

ALLENTOWN CENTRAL CATHOLIC

Avenging a setback received at the hands of the "Cards" last year, the Vikings overpowered this year's combination, 25-0. Jim Boaman, scrappy senior center, stood out for his fine work and bore the brunt of the Crowmen's attack.

LaSALLE MILITARY ACADEMY

The cadets from LaSalle Military Academy proved too powerful for the Red Birds. Having command of the entire game, the future Army officers snowed under a fighting Central combination, 51-6.

ST. PATRICK'S, NORRISTOWN

By defeating St. Patrick's to the tune of 13-12, the "Cards" hiked their season's record to three victories. The game proved to be exciting, the Tierneymen thrilling the spectators with their aerial pyrotechnics. The "Cards" had a hard fight since they were trailing until the final five minutes when Babe Tulley notched the winning six-pointer on a pass play.

SHENANDOAH CATHOLIC

In its last home game of the season, Central humbled the Shenandoans, 20-0. Refusing to give up, the fighting Irish from the coal regions fought as hard as they could, but it was all in vain. The final whistle blew with the score in Central's favor.

DELONE CATHOLIC, McSHERRYSTOWN

In the final contest of the season, the Red Birds traveled to McSherrystown only to be subdued, 14-7. This was sweet revenge for Delone, who had been trampled by the "Cards" last season. The winning tally was registered in the third period when one of Central's punts was blocked and a Delonite raced forty yards for the margin of victory.

In one of the many grueling line plays during the Camden Catholic game which ended in a 12-12 tie, Bill Curtin bucks the line with some much-needed assistance from Dick Feicht and Bill Mackay.

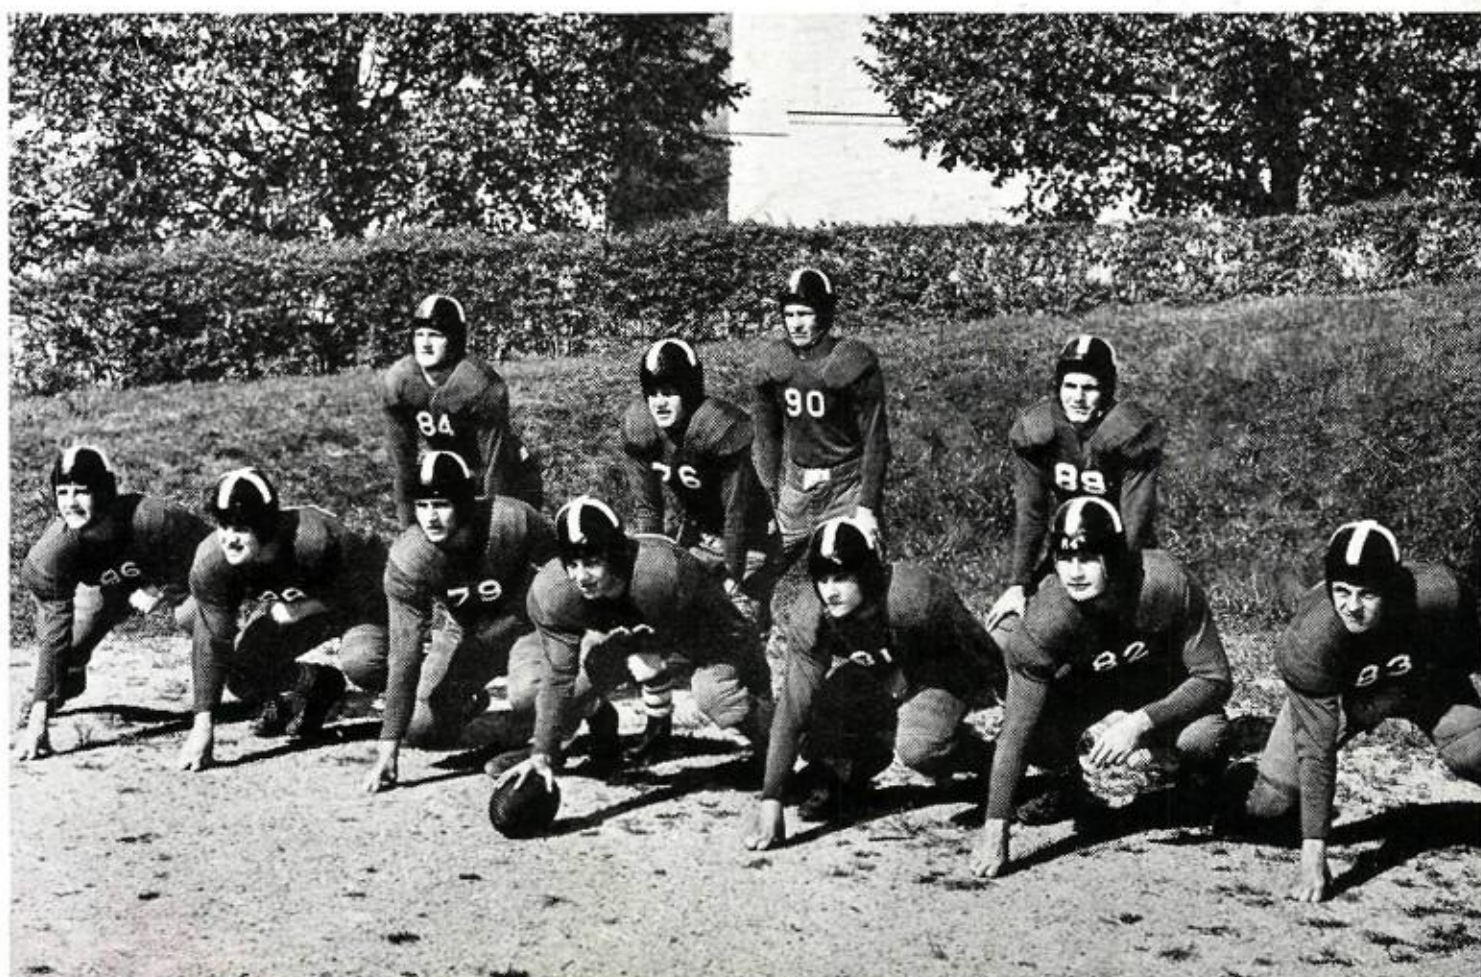

Head Coach Larry Tierney discusses the Pittston game with Paul Kolb to whom has been assigned the brunt of the punting duties.

Basketeers

For the fourth year in succession Central's basketball team was tops on the court, finishing the season with a record of eighteen wins and seven losses. Under the capable leadership of Coach Joe Schaaf, the "Cards" were downed only by St. James, LaSalle, Loyola, Coatesville, Harrisburg Catholic, Allentown Central Catholic, and Central Catholic of St. Mary's, all first rate teams. However, three of these defeats were avenged.

Co-captains Bob Didyoung and Tom Powers both broke scoring records. Bob Didyoung established a new one-game scoring standard when he pocketed twenty-four points against Reading Catholic, while Tom Powers broke the season's record with a total of 522 points.

LANSFORD CATHOLIC

Central's flashy "Cards" opened their 1946-47 season with a bang by defeating Lansford Catholic, 35-15. The first victory was but a preview of the many future wins for the classy Schaafmen.

DOWNINGTOWN HIGH

Outclassing the opposition all the way, Central's court combine registered its second consecutive win of the season by trouncing the Whippets of Downingtown, 56-23. Tom Powers and Bob Didyoung paced the attack accounting for fifteen and twelve points respectively.

NORTHEAST CATHOLIC, PHILADELPHIA

The Red Birds extended their winning streak to three successive wins by defeating a strong and fighting Northeast five to the tune of 50-26. This game marked the beginning of Central's hostilities for the year with a host of powerful Philadelphia teams.

GLEN-NOR

The classy courtmen from Central set back Glen-Nor, 40-31. Tommy Powers sparked the scoring attack with seventeen points. Glen-Nor's high scorer of the game was Irish Keown with ten points.

ST. JAMES, CHESTER

Playing on their home court, a mighty St. James five temporarily halted the Reading boys' winning streak by overpowering them, 36-28. This game was the "Cards'" first trip away from home.

First row: J. Chelius, T. Powers, R. Didyoung, J. Roland, W. Curtin. Second row: Coach J. Schaaf, G. Brizek, W. Snider, C. Tulley, R. Banco, E. Lanshe, Manager J. Baack.

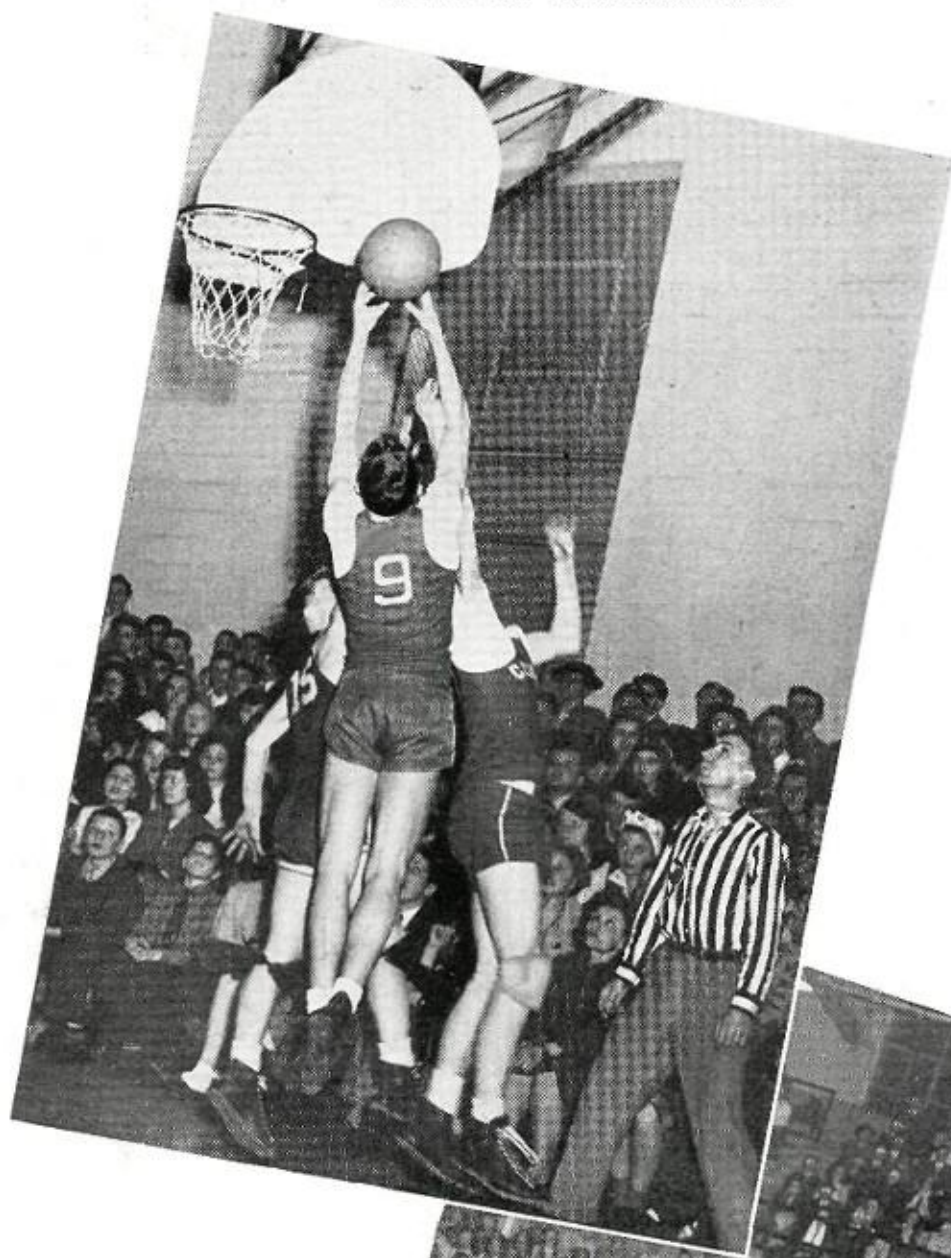

LASALLE, PHILADELPHIA

In the last four minutes of play, LaSalle's "Little Explorers" exploded a ten-point barrage to reverse the "Cards," 54-28. With twenty-three points between them Powers and Didyoung topped Central's scoring list.

ROMAN CATHOLIC, PHILADELPHIA

A strong Roman Catholic foe succumbed to a perfectly synchronized Central five. The tight score of 29-28 thrilled the Central Catholic fans repeatedly.

Tom Powers stretches into the stratosphere to tap one in during a tense moment of the Lebanon Catholic game, in which the "Cards" subdued the Lebanonites, 54-26.

And the Score

COATESVILLE

The "Cards" opened the 1947 portion of their schedule in sensational style, whipping Coatesville High, 42-28. Didyoung and Powers were again the big guns, the former notching fifteen points and the latter, ten.

DOWNINGTOWN

Once more the Red Birds met the Downingtown boys and history repeated itself as the Cardinals trounced their foes, 44-30. These two contests with Downingtown opened athletic relations between the two schools.

LOYOLA, BALTIMORE

Chalking up seventeen points in the final quarter, Loyola Catholic gained a 45-39 victory over the Hill Road hoopsters. Tom Powers and Bob Didyoung packed the punch for the "Cards," scoring thirty-one tallies between them.

READING CATHOLIC

Central pulled ahead in the Reading-Central Catholic series by drubbing the Eagles, 47-22. In this game Tom Powers, the Cardinal's high scorer, broke the individual scoring record of twenty-one set by Bud Binder, by pocketing twenty-two markers.

LEBANON CATHOLIC

Coming through with another slick performance, Central's court wizards romped to victory with a 54-26 decision over Lebanon Catholic. The "Big Three" in this game were Tulley, Didyoung, and Powers, accounting for sixteen, fourteen, and thirteen digits respectively.

KUTZTOWN

The "Cards" opened relations with another new foe, Kutztown, and came through with a 57-52 win. Overcoming a shaky start, the boys hit their stride and once again brought home a victory. Babe Tulley was high scorer with nineteen tallies.

Babe Tulley lets loose a shot as Bill Curtin cuts toward the basket for a possible rebound at one of those hotly-contested Reading Catholic games in which Central won, 61-20.

Rolls Up

Coach Joe Schaaf gives final instructions to his charges: T. Powers, J. Chelius, W. Curtin, C. Tulley, G. Brizek, W. Snider, E. Lanshe, R. Banco, J. Roland, and R. Didyoung.

COATESVILLE

Coatesville High's Raiders avenged a 42-28 drubbing suffered earlier in the season by edging the "Cards" in an overtime stanza, 36-34. The Raiders were out in front most of the contest, but it was a fighting Central combine that forced them to go into an extra stanza.

READING CATHOLIC

Once again Central Catholic defeated Reading Catholic. The one-sided score, 61-20, however, does not mean that the game was not a scrappy one; the Eagles were fighting all the way.

LEBANON CATHOLIC

Unlike their first game with Lebanon which was a walkover, the Schaafmen had to fight hard to win the encore. With only one minute left to play, the score was tied at 36-36 when Tom Powers scored a deuce and Bill Snider added a charity chuck which put Central out in front, 39-36.

HARRISBURG CATHOLIC

Traveling to the Capital City, the classy Red Birds suffered their fifth defeat of the season by a score of 43-31. This game opened the season's relations with Harrisburg Catholic.

KUTZTOWN

By trimming Kutztown 38-16, the Red and White passers rolled up their thirteenth cage triumph of the season. Senior Jack Chelius, although not a consistent point garnerer, stood out for his fine defensive play.

HARRISBURG CATHOLIC

Acquiring revenge for the defeat earlier in the season, the flashy "Cards" outscored the Harrisburg live by eleven points by pounding out a 36-25 victory. The Capital City boys put up a brave but futile attempt to hold the streaking Cardinals.

ST. ANN'S, LANSFORD

Another foe was added to Central's conquest column when the "Cards" beat St. Ann's of Lansford, 36-48, after breaking loose with a 21-point barrage in the final quarter. Spearheading the attack were Powers and Didyoung.

LOYOLA, BALTIMORE

Central's classy courtmen avenged another one of their defeats when they spanked Loyola of Baltimore, 53-57. This marked their fifteenth triumph of the season.

ST. JAMES, CHESTER

Hitting their stride after having been held in check during the first half, the Red and White avenged an earlier season set-back by reversing St. James of Chester, 48-31.

DOYLESTOWN

The Central Catholic Cardinals bombarded Doylestown High, 53-28, to chalk up their eighteenth conquest of the campaign. Didyoung, Powers, and Tulley together collected thirty-five tallies.

CENTRAL CATHOLIC, ALLENTOWN

For the fourth successive year the Allentown Vikings reversed the "Cards," 48-40, thus eliminating them from the second round of the P. C. I. A. A. playoffs. Each team had sixteen buckets, but it was by faultless foul shooting that Allentown Central Catholic gained the edge.

CENTRAL CATHOLIC, ST. MARY'S

Fighting to their utmost, the "Cards" battled St. Mary's Central to the last second but lost a heart-breaker in the qualifying round of the Williamsport Knights of Columbus Tournament by a 37-28 score.

They Follow in the Varsity's Footsteps

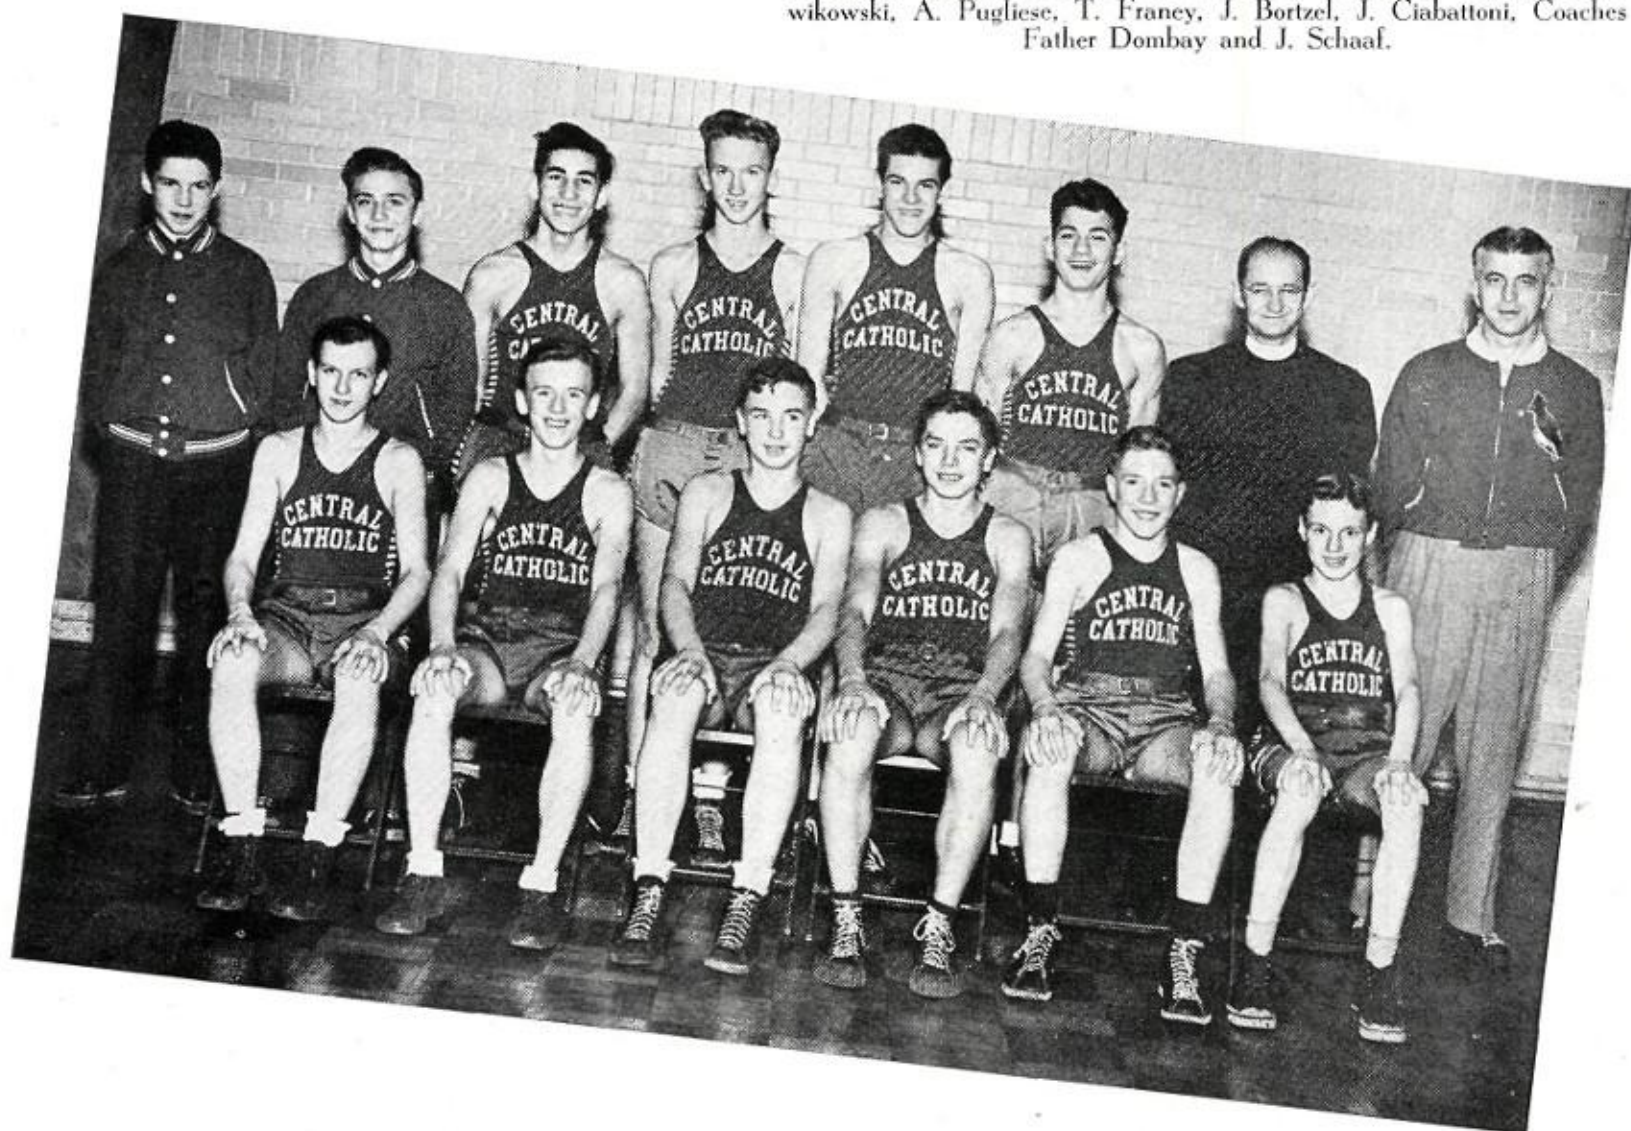

Sporting a 16-6 record for their '47 season, the Jayvees make a promising future team for Central Catholic. Captained by Jimmy Rocktashel and Bob Banco, the Baby "Cards" carried the traditions of Central in all their hard-fought games. The starting array consisted of R. Banco, J. Ludwig, G. Rocktashel, C. Neiman and R. Bowers. First class reserves were J. Rearden, G. Faller, and M. McQuaite.

Under Father Dombay's able guidance, the young hoopsters overcame some stiff competition to bring home victories during the preliminary games.

Central's Future Court Stars

"Never too young to learn," is the slogan of the fighting freshmen of Central Catholic. Though they encountered few opponents, they proved worthy specimens of Central basketballers. This freshman team is the first in Central's history.

First row: E. Bullington, D. Ludwikowski, J. Kase, C. Gehringer, J. Morris, J. Maurer. Second row: Managers W. Kelly and W. Ludwikowski, A. Pugliese, T. Franey, J. Bortzel, J. Ciabattani, Coaches Father Dombay and J. Schaaf.

First row: H. Baczewski, M. Stengel, A. Richards, M. Slapikas, D. Ganter, H. Zalegowski, E. Parslar, P. Lis. Second row: Asst. Coach Mrs. C. Schwartz, Manager T. Erlacher, C. Bender, P. Daly, A. They Play to Win

Not to be outdone by the male basketballers, the "femmies" also hung up an impressive record. Frequent practice and the excellent coaching of Miss Virginia Illuzzi spurred the girls on to their victories. Although the Cardettes did not retain the Class B Championship, they came out in the runner-up position, having lost only three games, and all to the first-place Franklins. The end of the 1946-1947 campaign found the girls with a record of twelve wins, four losses and one tie. Five of these conquests were league games and seven were non-league tilts. The lone tie was with the girls' arch-rivals, Reading Catholic. Besides losing three games to the Franklins, they also lost one to Pottstown High's aggregation in a non-league encounter. Miss Illuzzi's sharpshooting lassies compiled a total of 534 markers against their opponents' 458. Dolly Ganter, Helen Baczewski, and Anne Morrey rounded out the "Big Three," scoring 300, 135, and 70 points respectively.

Set the Pace

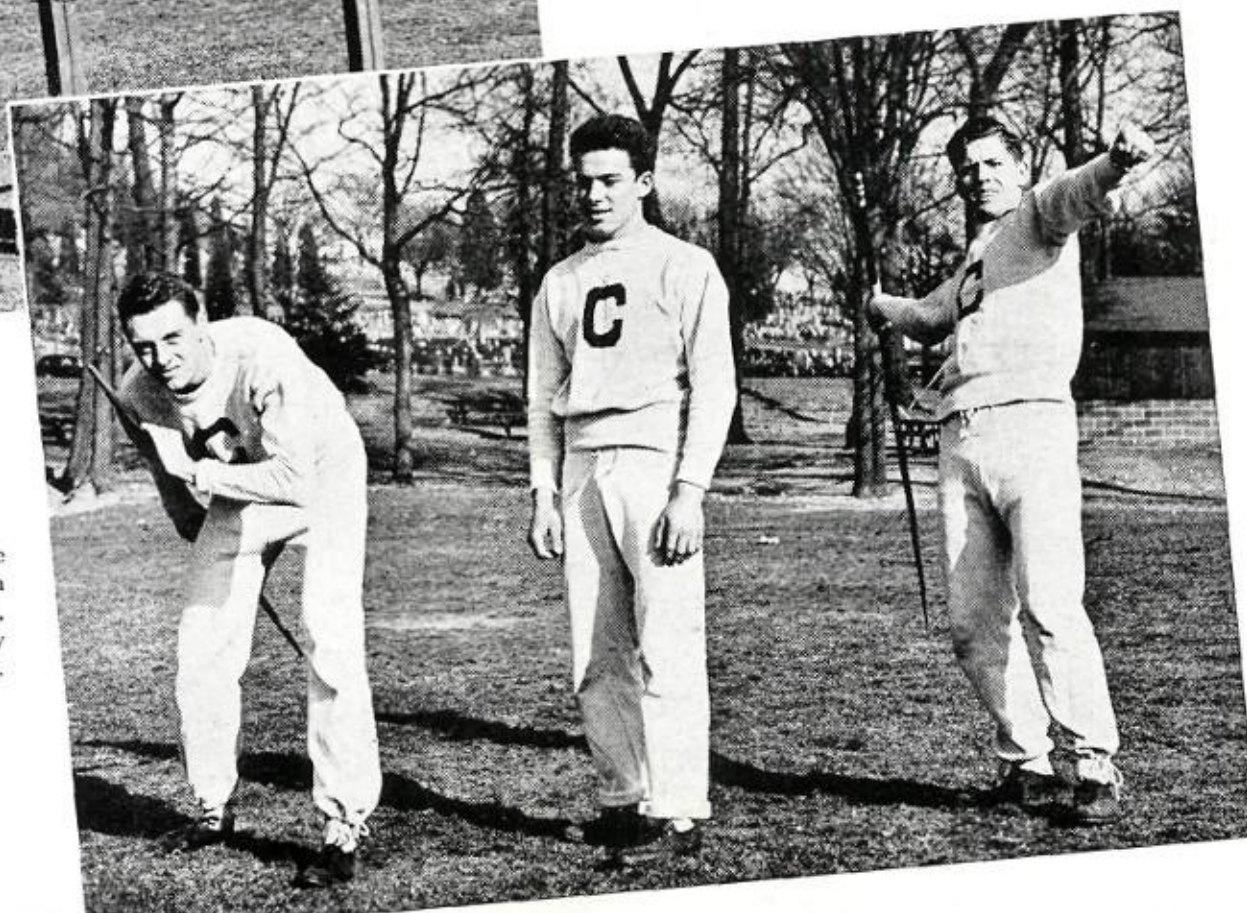

Opening their season with the annual inter-class meet, the Central cindermen will try to better the high '46 records. Battling stiff competition all the way, the "Cards," under the direction of Dr. Ralph Mulligan, will fight an uphill battle to polish last season's record of one defeat in all attempts. Running on various foreign fields, the Red thinclads have high hopes of a successful season.

Hoping to carry pole vaulting to greater heights at Central is G. Rocktashel, who is following in his brother's footsteps.

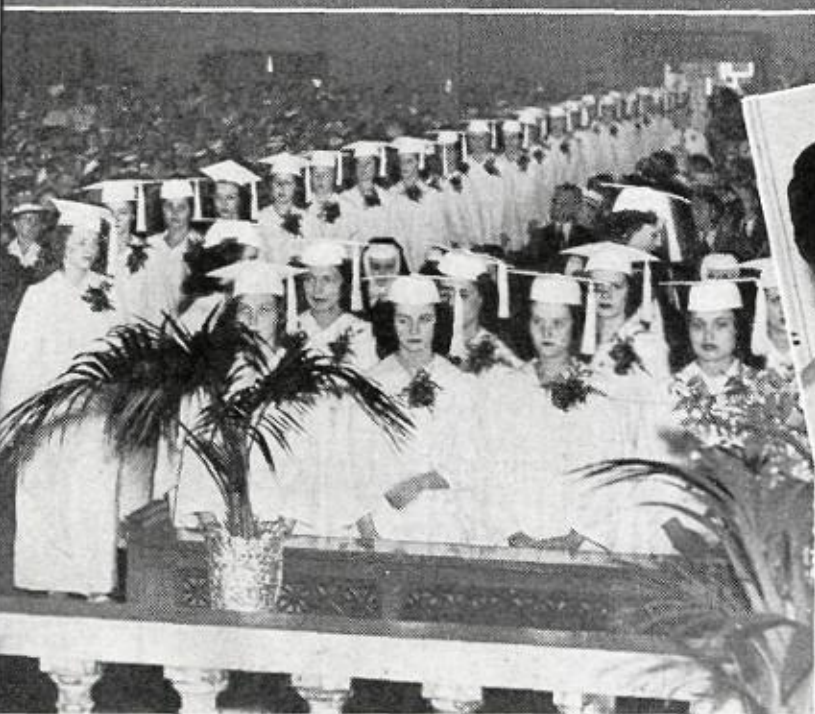

J. Gallen and J. Franey, competent low hurdles men, leap high and wide.

Central's javelin throwers are caught in a familiar pose at an early practice session. T. Powers, A. Morganti, and D. Buser carry the team's hopes in this event.

Honors

First and Second Honors for four years: J. Greytok, L. Dybalski, J. Baeck, G. Erlacher, J. Buffington.

First Honors for four years: R. Szmanski, R. Kase, A. Albrecht, S. Donaldson.

More Honors

E. Kugler, J. Vogel, J. Vogel, H. Klinikowski, and D. Andrejansky recall the many days of deep snow and heavy rain which did not keep them from school, not even for one day in four years.

The purpose of the Honor Roll is to encourage every student to put forth his greatest effort and to raise the standing of the school as a whole. Students who have at least 90% in religion and in four major subjects merit First Honors, while those who have not less than 85% in religion and in four major subjects are awarded Second Honors.

In Memoriam

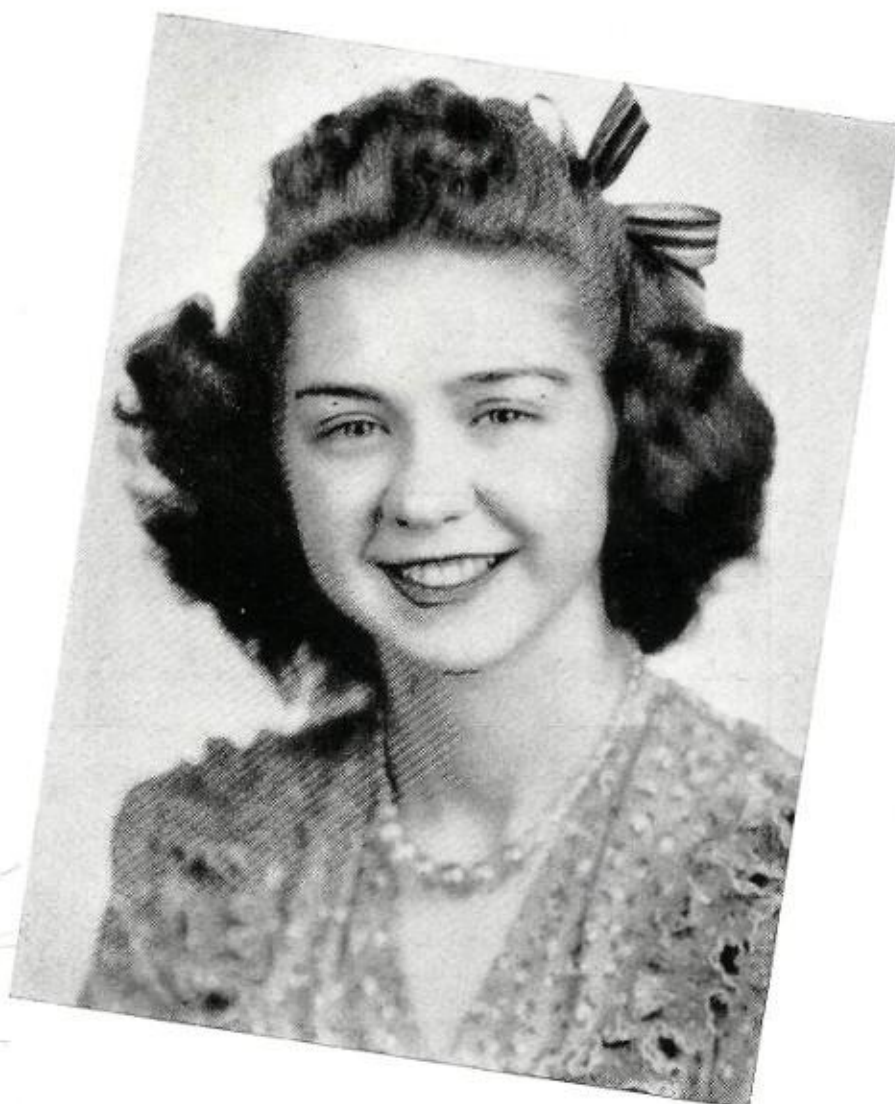

GERALDINE BUCK

Geraldine, a member of the 1947 class, was a trustworthy and sincere girl with high ideals. She was distinguished for her sense of humor, cheerfulness, and eagerness to partake in school activities, sports, and social functions. All who knew her agree that she was a model Centralite.

DOLORES SHURILLA

The class of 1946 was greatly saddened by the loss of Dolores who was a favorite among the students. She was talented, cooperative, and industrious, and was admired by the faculty as well as by the student body.

Best of love to you and family
